Frozen fashion turns an old landmark into hot spot

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

K.C. Dieck, owner of the new Main St. Frozen Custard, told her husband, "I think I have one more career left in me," and set off to learn the method used to create a product touted "best in the Midwest."

Dieck has transformed the former Jensen House, a landmark in its own right, into the hottest spot in Antioch to enjoy a frozen delicacy. It has generous hours of 11 a.m.-11 p.m. seven days a week. Only open since June 13, the business has already garnered a loyal clientele that it hopes will continue to grow with an Aug. 18-19 grand opening.

"A friend told me about Leon's in Milwaukee, a second generation landmark," said Dieck. "Ron Schneider (the owner) was really great and he taught me how to make it. I bought his machines, and I purchase all of my product, dairy, nuts, chocolate chips, from the same places he buys them. This way I know I have a wonderful product."

In honor of Antioch Community

High School across the street from the custard shop, Dieck renamed what is Leon's version of the banana split the Sequoit Split. "In Milwaukee, a banana split has marshmallow and strawberry on it. Since it stays with the school's red and white colors, I renamed it," said Dieck. "We still serve a regular banana split here."

Other specialty sundaes include the turtle sundae, s'mores sundae and brownie sundae delight in addition to cups, cones, root beer floats and "thick as a brick" shakes. For those looking for something with more substance, a variety of hot dogs, barbecue beef and chicken, Italian beef and chips are served.

A specialty flavor is made each day. Customers can request to go on a mailing list to receive a calendar of each day's special flavor. "I'm so fortunate," said Dieck. "I work with like 18 chemists. They come up with great flavor ideas, and then come up with the recipe. It's wonderful."

Dieck said everything is made from scratch, and that while her product isn't low fat, it does have less fat and sugar than regular premium ice cream. "There is very little air in this," said Dieck. "It's very condensed and very creamy."

Main St. Frozen Custard welcomes parties and hosts a cruise night for classic cars every Thursday from 6-9 p.m. Those with classic cars can receive a single cone for $1, and all comers can purchase root beer floats for $1. "We had a big motorcycle club call us ahead and come through," said Dieck. "We offered them the same deal that we do for the (classic) cars."

During the grand opening celebration (Aug. 18-19), customers can try a single cone for $.75, $1 hot dogs, $1 root beer floats and shakes for $2. The first 125 people will receive a free large coke.

A ribbon cutting ceremony will be held with Mayor Taso Maravelas at 10 a.m. on Saturday. At 2 p.m. on Sunday, there will be live music featuring Mike Creaney playing and singing hits from the '50s and '60s.

Dieck said, "I wanted to do something that would put me out with the public. We have really loyal customers. The kids who work here are wonderful."

Topless nightclub proposed north of Illinois border

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Though an ordinance was approved by the Village of Antioch last December that restricts businesses referred to as adult uses (adult bookstores, strip clubs, adult motion picture theaters and adult novelty stores), it can't protect residents from a topless nightclub being proposed just north of the Illinois border.

Kenneth Fees, owner of the Show Palace in Darien, Wis., has proposed turning a vacant building in Salem, Wis., formerly known as The Harmony, into the Show Palace II. The Harmony is located on Rte. 83 just three-tenths of a mile from the Illinois border and six-tenths of a mile from the signs marking Antioch proper.

A Kenosha County official said Fees could open the establishment without having to apply for any licenses if he only served soft drinks like soda pop. To open as proposed, with the service of liquor and topless women, Fees needs both a liquor license through the town and a cabaret license through the county.

About 200 residents attended the meeting to voice concern over the proposal. Chief among residents concerns is the proximity of the building to residences and the former reputation of The Harmony. One resident yelled out of order, "They used to call it 'blood alley.'"

Town chair Shirley Boening said, "We are going to do what is in the best interest of the town...Nothing has been applied for, and no decisions will be made tonight...I have no reason to believe that this would be approved."

Resident Chris Gustafson left the meeting in frustration when the board refused to consider her request that it "raise a question of privilege concerning the assembly," an action under Robert's Rules of Order that would have allowed the board to go immediately into discussion to establish an ordinance that could prevent the topless nightclub. After Gustafson made her second plea, Boening said, "We're not going to do that."

Fees, a Lake Geneva resident, said of his first establishment, "We've been in operation for three years. We run a very clean establishment. There is no prostitution. You think we sell sex. We do not."

Questions were posed to Fees informally by residents. He was asked what protection he could provide children in the area from the patrons of his club that would be open from 11 a.m. to at least 1 a.m. "I can't offer your daughter any protection," he replied.

"Most of the men who come into these establishments are married men with children," offered Fees on the one hand. On the other he explained, "We escort girls out and wait for them to drive off."

Steitz's RV park to remain open

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Though the seven-member planning, building and zoning committee of the Lake County Board pulled out its big guns and directed staff to shut down Steitz's Resort for operating without a license since March, the five-acre recreational vehicle (RV) park located on Bluff Road remains open.

Director of planning for Lake County Phil Rovang said, "We want to reestablish communications with Mr. Steitz. We don't want to shut down any business owner. We just want compliance." He added that anything would be considered that would seek compliance.

Shortly thereafter, committee member Judy Martini (R-Antioch) said, "He made the first step to rectify the problem. He came in with the fee for the license, and his lawyer is going to work with us on getting the inspection."

It was reported that Steitz was opposed to the inspection because, for the first time, video would be used to document the conditions and current status of the resort.

Rovang, who has been in his current position with Lake County for two years, said, "This is the first year that I instructed the two (staff members) in charge of RV inspections to use video tape. Last year we were in limbo because of the proposed changes to the ordinance."

According to Rovang, an ordinance has been in place since the mid '70s that regulates RV parks in Lake County, and that an inspection has always been part of that. He said that using video this year was unrelated to the changes in the ordinance that further restrict RV parks.

"Inspections are for public health and safety," said Martini. "They are for the protection of both the tenants and surrounding neighborhoods."

All but one of the 25 RV parks within Lake County are situated within Antioch. Eleven of these 25 parks have filed a lawsuit against Lake County.

"In the last 18 months, the board realized the ordinance wasn't adequate to handle the number of complaints of neighbors," said Rovang. "The ordinance was strengthened to mitigate some of the nuisance factors."

The most onerous of the changes, according to Rovang, is one that shuts down RV parks completely from Oct. 31-April 1.

He said, "An RV park should be recreational. Those looking to set up residence should move into a mobile home park or to a manufactured home park."

Village, county combine thoughts on East-Sub area

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

A letter from Lake County Board Rep. Judy Martini (R-Antioch) was read at the regular meeting of the board of directors of the Village of Antioch offering to combine county efforts with those of the village in revising a plan for the East-Sub Area.

An open meeting will be on Oct. 4 at 7 p.m. at the Lake Villa Township Hall to discuss the desire for future development within the area that includes Antioch's East-Sub Area. "The purpose is to get us all on the same page," said Martini.

"Typically, our framework plan meetings have not been well attended, but with the change in administration and the new mayor (Taso Maravelas) it looks like that will change."

The county's framework plan is similar to the village's comprehensive plan. According to Martini, all of Lake County is divided into quadrants and meetings are held for each quadrant.

"I was ecstatic about the interest in this meeting," said Martini. She added, "We'll (village and county officials) sit down before October to discuss our mutual interests."

Elementary school reduced-price lunch policy announced

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Antioch Community Consolidated School Dist. 34 announced its policy for free- and reduced-price lunches for those students unable to pay the full price for meals.

To receive this special meal service, students must meet the federal guidelines and the meals must meet the requirements established by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture (exceptions are made for those with a disability requiring a special meal prescribed by a physician).

The following criteria will be used to determine eligibility for free lunches. As an example, meals are available to those with a household size of two and an annual income of $15,093, or a weekly income of $291. Free meals are available to those with a household size of four and an annual income of $22,945, or a weekly income of $442.

Reduced-price lunches are available to those with a household size of two and an annual income of $21,479, or a weekly income $414. For a household size of four, the annual income cannot exceed $32,653 annually, or $526 weekly.

Applications and a complete list of income guidelines are available from the principals' offices of the elementary schools within the district. All applicable questions should be answered. An incomplete application cannot be processed and approved by the school.

Households that currently receive food stamps of TANF (Temporary Assistance for Needy Families) for the children need only list the name of the children and the food stamp or TANF case number and sign the application.

All other households must provide the following information: names of all household members; the Social Security number of the adult household member signing the application, or the word "none" if the adult does not have a Social Security number; the amount of income each household member received last month and where it came from (wages, child support, etc.); the signature of an adult household member.

The school or other officials may verify this information at any time during the school year.

The school must be notified in the event of a change in household income of $50 per month or $600 per year, or if the household size decreases. Additionally, families must notify the school if they no longer receive food stamps or TANF for their children.

Free or reduced-price lunches may be applied for at any time within the school year as a situation or situations change making a household eligible. In certain cases, foster children are eligible for these meals regardless of household income.

Households have the right to a fair hearing if dissatisfied with the ruling, and this can be done by calling or writing Supt. John Hunt, 800 Main St., or by calling 838-8401.

New elementary school ready for year's start, open house scheduled

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Students of Antioch Community Consolidated Dist. 34 will begin the school the day after Labor Day, a little later than usual, to ensure that renovations to Antioch Upper Grade School (AUGS) are finished and that the construction of the new primary elementary school, Hillcrest, will be complete.

The district's new superintendent, John Hunt, said he's spent much of his first few weeks overseeing the progress. "Things are going very well," he said. "We're letting the teachers in on Aug. 22, and we should be all ready for the first day of school."

Hunt praised the decision made by the interim superintendents prior to his arrival to start the school year later than usual. "It was a good decision on their part," he said. "Some of the renovations at the (Antioch) Upper Grade School couldn't be started until after the students and teachers were out at the end of last school year."

According to Hunt, work is still being done to the cafeteria at AUGS and the gymnasium floor needs to be laid at Hillcrest. "It won't be a wood floor at Hillcrest, but a soft flooring material. They have to wait until the concrete is a certain dryness before they put the flooring in place."

A small open-house ceremony will be held for the AUGS renovations on Sept. 12 from 7-8 p.m., and Hillcrest's public debut will be held on Sept. 17.

"State Superintendent of Public Education Dr. Max McGee will speak at the official public ceremony (of Hillcrest) at 6:30 p.m., but tours will begin earlier that day at about 12:30 p.m.," said Hunt. "We want the community to come out and see how their tax money is being used."

Hunt holds a doctorate degree from the University of Southern Illinois and was formerly superintendent of Pleasant Plains Community Unit School Dist. 8 outside of Springfield.

Lake County kicks off United Way campaign

In an effort to raise money for United Way of Lake County, county board members, elected officials, employees and retirees will participate in a number of fund-raising events, according to this year's campaign chair, Department of Planning, Building and Development Director, Phil Rovang. Rovang informed board members about upcoming fund-raisers and encouraged them to participate.

Lake County government employees have an opportunity to donate money via payroll deductions, cash or pledges. Thanks to these efforts, Lake County employees and retirees raised $87,000 for United Way of Lake County last year.

This year's goal is to raise $100,000 and increase employee participation to 50 percent in each county department. The department that has the greatest increase in giving over last year will receive special recognition and a trophy from United Way. The Lake County Health Department won the trophy for the 2000 campaign.

According to Rovang, "We're adding a number of new, fun fund-raisers this year and are very optimistic that we'll reach our goal of raising $100,000 for United Way of Lake County. More than one-quarter of county government employees will use the services of agencies funded by United Way of Lake County this year, so we have an obligation and commitment to do everything we can to help the organization."

This year's events include a carnival Sept. 20 in the Lincoln Plaza of the Lake County government building in Waukegan. The carnival kicks off the 2001 United Way campaign, which runs through Oct. 19.

The carnival, dubbed "Care Fair," will have midway activities, food, live music and a raffle. Lake County board members and elected officials will staff midway booths, including a dunk tank, ring toss, bingo, tug-of-war and other games and activities.

For further information or to donate, contact Terry Kuss at 377-2136.

The Lake County 2001 United Way campaign is part of Lake County Cares, which encourages volunteerism by offering volunteer opportunities for Lake County employees and retirees in an effort to make a difference in communities throughout Lake County.

Metra service disrupted during construction

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Passengers who normally ride the Metra North Central Service line on its Monday-Wednesday early afternoon runs will be riding buses during track reconstruction. The buses will run between Antioch and Mundelein throughout the construction period.

Pace buses marked "Metra substitute service" will be staged at both locations to accommodate passengers for train 105 and train 112 as a shuttle between the two locations in the early part of the week. Train 105 typically leaves Mundelein at 2:29 p.m. and arrives in Antioch at 3:25 p.m. Train 112 is scheduled to leave Antioch at 3 p.m. and arrive in Mundelein at 3:51 p.m.

The trains will operate on regular schedules Thursday-Friday. Rush hour service in the mornings and later in the afternoon should not be affected, though there could be 45-minute delays in service for those traveling mid-afternoon.

Metra employee Alicia Gamboa said the work would tentatively be finished by mid-August. For more information, call the Metra passenger assistance line at 312-322-6777.

The annual school supply shopping ordeal

So how many of you found yourselves at the local discount store this week holding school supply lists in one hand and brass knuckles in the other? Between the obnoxious mom with her cart in the middle of the aisle blocking the traffic flow and the spoiled little temper tantrum throwing missy who was upset mom wouldn't buy her every Lisa Frank folder, pencil, rule, eraser, notebook and lunch box ever produced. This shopping excursion was like voyage on the Titanic and you were about to abandon ship.

Some schools now provide school supply kits that can be ordered from the confines of your own home, but often the young 'uns' want to pick out their designer pencils and folders thus rendering the parents on a shopping trip from hell.

So we take to the store with a list of supplies that will last approximately the first three days of school, after which little Susie will trade all her "to die for" pencils and Johnny will have lost the Pokemon folder he couldn't live without.

The supply list we were given was very specific in its description of selected items. We needed notebooks with 120 pages, wide-ruled. Every store I visited had 70 pages, 100 pages and 150 pages, I finally located 120 pages but they were college ruled—"write small" I told my sobbing child. We needed red pens, fine point and I searched every store in Lake, Cook and Kenosha counties and could not find fine points.

Finally, my brother-in-law, midnight requisitioned three of the precious commodities from his office—naturally I needed four. The list called for 15 pencils they sell them in packs of 12. We needed five folders—they were four for $1. Johnny demanded the bright yellow three-ring binder he saw in the store flyer and of course, by the time we got to the store, they only had fluorescent purple left.

And why is it you can buy a box of mark-

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

Lynn Pringle

ers for 99 cents, but the same box of "washable" markers is $3.49? And what is it with all the color choices: classic, tropical, fruity, glitter, funky, or original?

One box had eight markers, all various shades of pink—now you tell me which box you think little Susie wanted. I tried to reason with this child that you can't color a picture in all pink—"Barbie does," was her reply. By that time my mood had swung to just shy of nasty and I replied, "Barbie is a blond bimbo."

I think store clerks should get hazardous duty pay for working in the school supply department. And tell me, on the first day of school do teachers make the kids lay out all their supplies and grade them on how well they followed directions?

Moms everywhere would flunk supply buying 101 with flying colors. After fighting the crowds elbowing crying babies and body slamming tantrum throwing little Billy's, our mission was complete and the check-out counter loomed ahead of us with a proclamation of impending freedom.

With the breath of fresh air just within our grasp, my youngest reminded me she needed new sneakers, this would mean a visit to the shoe department. I pondered the predicament, did a quick visual check of the closet floors at home in my mind and smiled. Thank goodness for hand-me-downs.

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle."

Readers with information for "Jingle from Pringle" should call Lynn Pringle at 395-6364.

FOOT NOTES

Dr. Lee M. Tisa, Podiatrist

NEUROMAS...A CONSTANT SOURCE OF FOOT PAIN

Morton's neuroma is an incredibly painful condition affecting the foot. A neuroma is a thickening and/or swelling of the sensory nerve of the foot. The pain from a neuroma is episodic in nature, at first is usually bearable, a sort of a dull stinging and burning sensation, which radiates to the 2nd, 3rd, 4th or 5th toes. Pain progresses, however, to a spiraling pain of excruciating level that radiates into the involved toes and feels like its taking over the entire foot. It is often said that sufferers feel repelled to remove their shoes and to flex and massage their toes rapidly to gain relief. Treatment of neuromas usually consists of conservative therapy such as alterations to the shoe, cortisone injections to the area, orthotic devices, which are custom arch supports.

If none of these measures work, surgery is the desired course of action and is the most effective in resolving the problem. Should you experience a dull or severe burning pain in your foot especially in the areas of the base of the toes, 2, 3, 4 or 5, please feel free to contact Dr. Lee Tisa for a no cost consultation to discuss your condition.

So far, so good

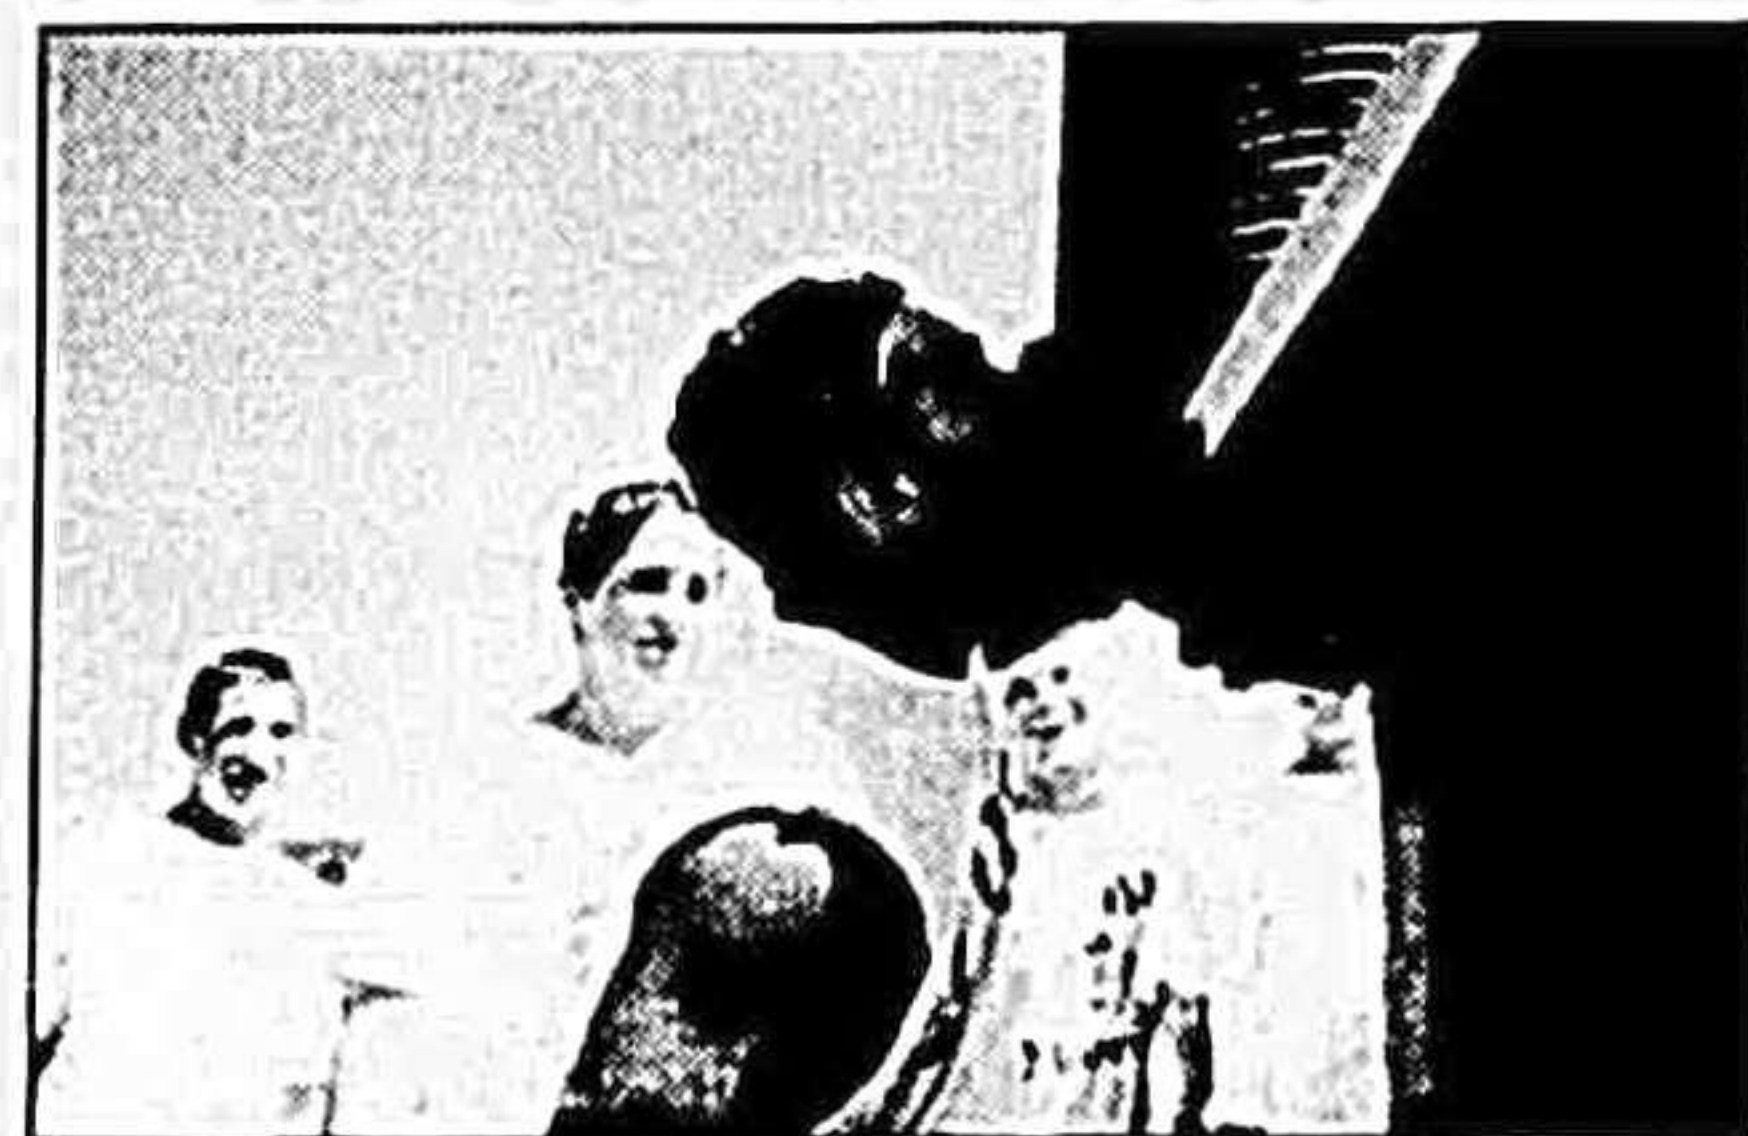

The concept was well received. Those handouts regarding heat exhaustion and heat stroke that were passed out prior to the start of high school football practice last week apparently helped.

All things considering with the extreme heat and all, a pat on the back goes out to everyone involved.

As of last report, there were a couple of asthma attacks, a fractured ankle and lots of bumps and bruises.

According to Larry Scire, Condell's Director of Sports Medicine, "There was one incident where we needed to give a player two IV bags. He had developed muscle cramps and became very dehydrated."

Of course, muscle cramps are one of the first signs of dehydration and heat exhaustion.

"With the athletes now using their muscles to full capacity, hydration is crucial because it's a direct relationship to the muscles' ability to function," added Scire. "Once you've established a cardiovascular base, you're getting more oxygenated blood to the muscles. Maintaining that by drinking plenty of water is the key."

Now, there will be cases such as the aforementioned. Hence, prevention is the key. That's where the coaches and trainers come into play.

"Keeping water in them (the athletes) is crucial," said Mundelein Athletic Trainer Ted Hirschfeld. "The coaches were pretty good about giving several water breaks."

Hirschfeld also said that most of his players were also good about drinking plenty of water the night before and night after a practice.

"The body is 90 percent water and is in constant need of it so that the pores will evaporate," he said. "It carries over to the next day. It's ongoing."

Scire said coaches have become very adamant about not becoming a statistic.

Case in point when Carmel let its players out early during one of those sweltering 100-plus heat index days last week.

"That's music to our ears," said Scire, on hearing the athletes weren't pushed to perform in the extreme heat.

Graylake High even had the Graylake Fire Dept. come over and spray water on them with their hoses.

"It was a short notice thing but it worked out really well," said Graylake Athletic Trainer Glen Gerdes. "Our big thing (with the heat last week) was to get overheated kids out of the environment. We got them into a shaded area and used iced towels. It's all about educating everyone on the dangers and what warning signs to look out for."

Whatever it takes, just as long as the athletes keep sweating and fluids ongoing.

John Phelps can be reached at (847) 223-8161, ext. 132; fax (847) 223-8810; or e-mail at edit@lnd.com.

Laker hoops team has fun winning another national title

By ROB BACKUS
Staff Reporter

The Lakeland-based Lakers fifth and sixth-grade boys basketball team went into the North American Youth Sports (NAYS) National tournament on a hot streak, having won two of their last three tournaments. The tournament was held in Arlington Heights with teams from California, Michigan, Ohio and other states competing.

The tournament started out in a round-robin format and the Lakers quickly established themselves as the team to beat by winning their first three games.

In the round-robin, the Lakers beat Loyola Hoopaz (Ill.), the Redhawks (Ohio), the Cardinal (Ky.), the Rockets (Calif.) and World Class (Ill.) to earn the number one seed for the championship competition.

"We didn't lose to any sixth-grade teams (in the Round Robin)," said head coach Brian Davis. "And we were able to beat some seventh-grade teams."

Their semifinal game was against the Loyola Hoopaz.

The Lakers made adjustments at the half and came out with tenacious defense to open up the second half, not allowing a basket in the first eight minutes.

Shannon Adams and Billy DeAngelis led the defensive onslaught with three steals apiece while Jonathon Montgomery and Rashod Vaval prospered on the offensive end. The rebounding efforts of Josh Smith, James Henley, Aaron Montgomery and Kevin Jermyn limited Loyola's shot opportunities to just one per possession.

The lead ballooned to as much as 35 points as the Lakers cruised to a 53-38 victory.

In the finals, the Lakers faced the Redhawks from Ohio and the game was much tougher.

Jeremy Montgomery and DeAngelis led the Lakers on defense while Adams and Jonathon Montgomery provided the offense.

The Lakers were down by six points with four minutes left with the ball when Jonathon Montgomery nailed a three-pointer to start the comeback. Adams stole the ensuing inbound pass and nailed a jumper to cut the lead to just one.

With one minute to go and the Lakers still down one, Adams converted on a three-point play to put his team up two, a lead that the Lakers would not relinquish as they went on to win 56-50.

"The (national title) feels great," said Davis. "More important than winning is to have great time, and the kids had an awesome time."

The tournament win gave the Lakers a 50-7 final record and the organization's seventh overall national title.

"We're not just about winning," said Davis. "Our philosophy is to get all of the kids playing time and to have some fun and we did."

AYB season concludes

Antioch Youth Baseball capped off one of its most memorable seasons when the 9- and 10-year-old girls softball won the District tournament by slaughter rule every game. It also won the championship in the Richmond tournament, finished second in the sectional tournament and made it through the tough losers bracket to face Norridge in two games for the title, only to fall 10-3. This is the farthest a girls program has gone for AYB.

Other highlights for AYB this season had the 9-year-old boys 1-2 in District tournament, followed by the 10-year-olds going 3-2 in the District tournament. The 10-year-olds also finished second in the Lake Zurich tourney this summer.

The 11- and 12-year-old Jr. girls softball team won its District tournament before losing in the title game of the sectional tourney to Elgin.

Meanwhile, the 11-year-old boys team won the Lakeland, Wis. tournament while finishing third in Districts.

The 12-year-old boys won their District and Sectional tournaments while going undefeated to the State tournament, held in Robinson, Ill. The 12s also placed fourth out of over 200 teams in competing for title. They posted a victory over Hinsdale but lost to Brown County and Moline American. This is the farthest any team has gone for AYB. Also, all of the teams at the state tournament pull from much larger population bases than Antioch, not bad for a small town that traveled the farthest to the tournament.

Other highlights:

The 13 and 14-year-old boys each went 0-2 in the State Tournament held in Rockford. The senior boys also posted an 0-2 mark in the Districts.

Mackey's hockey camp a hit

By JOE PRUSKI
Correspondent

High School hockey players from around the area learned valuable lessons on the fundamentals of hockey from former NHL and IHL player Dave Mackey at his self-instructed clinic held last week at Rink Side Sports in Gurnee.

Mackey, whose professional career spanned over 15 years and five teams hopes that his Dave Mackey High School Hockey School Clinics will become a yearly attraction now that he is retired.

"We had a nice turnout. Hopefully we can build on this," said Mackey. "Hockey is becoming a bigger sport in the area and it has a lot to offer to kids (in Lake County)."

The camp, which was held for one week, was specifically geared towards teaching high school-aged athletes the fundamentals of the game.

"We're trying to get a little bit of everything with an emphasis on skating," said Mackey. "It's a game of speed and balance, that's what's most important."

Mackey believes that the most important thing to offer to today's hockey youth is the overall knowledge of the game with the fundamentals being the building blocks of the clinic.

Mackey was originally drafted by the Chicago Blackhawks in 1984 and played for them for three years. After his retirement over a year ago Mackey has taken to teaching the game.

"I want to give back some of the knowledge of the game," said Mackey. "I've dedicated my whole life to hockey and now I just want to give it back to the community."

Antioch Small Engine rewarded for service

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Antioch Small Engine, located on Rte. 83, has earned the distinction master sales and service dealer with the Milwaukee-based Briggs and Stratton Corp.

"It's a real honor," said Eric Gugel, who owns the business along with his brother, Greg. "You know your business is going in the right direction to have a company like Briggs and Stratton notice you."

The master sales and service dealer classification is available to only a limited number of dealers who have been registered with the company for more than three years and who have excelled in servicing its customers.

"To make master dealership is big," said Gugel. "As a master dealer you have to set an example for all other dealers." He added that there are fewer than 3,000 master certified technicians and "we have two of them."

Gugel said he and his brother have been in business with Briggs and Stratton since 1991. "We sell and service to most of the hardware stores and big box stores in the area. Briggs and Stratton makes about 65 percent of the air-cooled engines in the world. They are in everything including lawn mowers, compressors, power washers and generators."

Last book I read: "Tuesdays with Morrie."

Favorite TV shows are: "Friends" and "Trading Spaces."

Favorite movie: It's a toss up between "Days of Thunder" and "Pretty Woman."

Favorite band or musician: Dave Matthews Band.

Favorite restaurant: Twin Oaks and Olive Garden.

My life's motto is: "Treat people how you want to be treated."

If I won the lottery, I would: Pay all the bills and fly all of my family to Jamaica.

My greatest accomplishment is: Attending high school and completing a college course at the same time.

I want to be remembered as: Someone who made a difference in the community.

People who knew me in high school would say: She talks too much!

My pet peeve is: Having to repeat myself over and over.

Most interesting person I ever met was: State Rep. Tim Osmond (R-Antioch).

If I had a plane ticket anywhere, I would go to: Europe to go backpacking.

American history

veryone needs a hobby.

For some, it's collecting stamps. For others, it's building model cars. Gene and Melody Mickan of Ingleside are devoted to a rather unique hobby. They are both garden railroaders.

Garden railroading is basically taking the train set that many of us had as children and moving it outdoors.

"When our kids (Jennifer and Andrew) went away, we needed a hobby," said Gene and Melody Mickan. "It's the first hobby we can enjoy together after 30 years of marriage."

It was after a trip to Steamtown USA in Scranton, Pa. that Gene thought of the idea.

While in Scranton, Gene bought a G-gauge train starter kit and was so excited he began to run it in the hotel room. It was on the way home from that trip that the Mickans decided to build a garden railroad.

"I saw a G-gauge model train and I loved it," said Gene Mickan. "Melody's father (Walter Zonka) had a collection that we were able to acquire and we built off of that."

In 1999, the Mickans began to build what they now call the Marquette Valley Railroad.

The Marquette Valley Railroad is designed to depict a logging community in the Pacific Northwest in the steam era of the late 1800s.

The railroad contains 285 feet of track on which eight electric-powered engines run.

Some of the engines include a Shay, a 462 Hudson, an FA1, an FB1 diesel, a GP9 diesel, a Galloping Goose, a 040 Switcher Steam and a B&O Switcher. The engines are accurate to almost every detail, just scaled down to 1:22.5 scale.

The engines are hooked into an electrical control panel that Gene built and are run by a radio remote control.

"You couldn't do a railroad this size any other way," said Melody Mickan. "But the wiring was a nightmare."

The engines and the track aren't the most impressive aspects of this garden railroad, though.

The most impressive feature could easily be the buildings and landscapes.

The Marquette Valley Railroad features a church, a general store, two lumber mills, a farm, a station, a water tower, a mountain cabin, a toy store, a school, a post office, a sheriff's department and a land office, most of which were hand-built by Gene.

All of the buildings also feature people, including the church, featuring a bride and groom, and the general store, which has a shopping mother and her infant son.

"We put the bride and groom on the steps of the church to symbolize our daughter's marriage four years ago," said Melody Mickan. "And the mother and infant symbolize our grandson Zachary's birth three months ago."

Surrounding the track and town are over 50 trees and 25 varieties of plants, mostly perennial and miniature in size.

"Every plant and tree surrounding the track is real," said Melody Mickan. "It makes it more realistic when some of the plants die off."

What further adds to the realism of the railway is the fact that it has had its share of disaster.

"I was on the wrong channel of the remote and I didn't stop the train in time," said Gene Top: A steam engine exits a covered bridge on part of Gene and Melody Mickan's garden railroad in Ingleside. Below: Gene Mickan tinkers with one of his trains in the backyard railroad he has created with wife Melody at their Ingleside home.

Mickan. "It ran right into one of the other engines. We've also had a few derailments."

The most ingenious part of the railway, by far, is the rail yard.

Rather than remove the trains one by one, Gene ran a length of track through a basement window into the rail yard.

"Instead of a 20 minute setup, it only takes a couple of minutes now," he said.

While owning a garden railroad is a lot of fun, maintenance of it comes with its share of hard work.

"It's more than a hobby, it's a job," said Melody Mickan.

Tracks have to constantly be cleaned and the trains and buildings absorb a lot of beating from the weather.

"Winter is used mostly for repair, restoration, repainting, modification and constructing new buildings and scenery," said Gene Mickan.

In addition to the hard work involved, garden railways can also be very expensive.

"You can get into it with a starter kit for a few hundred dollars," said Gene Mickan. "If you want to get serious about it, it will cost you a few thousand dollars."

While it may seem like a strange hobby to some, there are thousands of garden railroaders in America and around the world.

SPECIAL EVENT

Thunderbirds to headline Air and Water Show

Chicago's lakefront skies become the canvas for the U.S.A.F. Thunderbirds as they create aerial art at the 2001 Chicago Air & Water Show, Aug. 19 and 20. The performances will take place from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and can be viewed along the lakefront from Fullerton Ave. to Oak St., with North Ave. Beach as the focal point. For nearly five decades, the U.S.A.F. Thunderbirds have dazzled spectators worldwide with death-defying maneuvers while traveling at record speed. The squadron flies the F-16 "Fighting Falcon," an extraordinarily lightweight aircraft, that is perfect for precision aerobatics. This season, they are scheduled to perform more than 60 shows in 29 states, and will visit the Pacific for the first time since 1994.

The Thunderbirds' aerial presentation is a blend of formation flying and solo routines. More than 1,000 hours of flight preparation takes place before each season. The entire squadron is composed of eight pilots, four support officers, four civilians and about 120 enlisted people performing in more than 25 Air Force specialties.

The 2001 Chicago Air & Water Show will also feature the Northern Lights Aerobatic Team, Aeroshell Aerobatic Team, Lima Lima Flight Team, Sean D. Tucker & Team Oracle, Red Baron Stearman Squadron, and announcer Herb Hunter, who will return as the "Voice of the Chicago Air and Water Show."

The Mayor's Office of Special Events encourages taking public transportation to all lakefront festivals to enhance the experience by making travel easier. Call 312-836-7000/TTY 312-836-4949 for information on RTA, CTA, PACE and Metra, 7 days a week including holidays, or visit the CTA web site. For up-to-the-minute traffic information and travel alerts, go to the Department of Transportation's web site at WWW.city-of-chicago.org/intheloop.

For more information about the 2001 Chicago Air & Water Show contact the Mayor's Office of Special Events Hotline at 312-744-3370 or visit www.cityofchicago.org/SpecialEvents.

Faire presents 'Midsummer'

Celebrate "A Midsummer Night's Dream," the Bristol Renaissance Faire's first full-cast Shakespearean production.

What better place to celebrate the magic and mayhem of Shakespeare's most popular comedy, "A Midsummer Night's Dream" than at the enchanted forest of the Bristol Faire? Performed once a day at noon on the Midsummer Stage, this production retains all of Shakespeare's memorable characters, immortal lines, and brilliant comedy in a condensed—yet complete—50-minute presentation. Laugh at the lovers. Howl with the rustics. Lose yourself in the magic of Shakespeare's Faerie land. Discover for yourself "what fools these mortals be."

Playing to a packed house every Saturday and Sunday since opening on June 30, this production of the Bard's immortal play was adapted by Susan Henderson. It is directed by Ron Scott Fry, with stage management by Dawn Deppe, music by Stephanie Lewin, production coordination by Rob Dahl, and set design by Joseph G. Fernandez. Costumes were designed and created by T. Stacy Hicks and Kate Barnekow.

The Bristol Renaissance Faire runs every weekend through Aug. 25.

When they first started their garden railroad back in 1999, the Mickans joined the Chicago-Area Garden Railway Society and began subscribing to Garden Railways magazine.

Through the magazine and the society, the Mickans developed a great deal of ideas for their own railway from other garden railroaders around the world.

The Chicago-area rail club sponsors open houses throughout the summer. It's a good way to meet other club members and share ideas.

"We hosted one (in 2000)," said Melody Mickan. "It was good to get an insider's point of view."

Also, each year a local club somewhere in America hosts a convention. In 2000, the convention was held in San Diego with 1,500 people attending, including the Mickans.

While their own railway appears to have everything, it is an ongoing project for the Mickans.

"We don't really have much more room to expand, so eventually we'll just start paying a lot more attention to detail," said Gene Mickan. "If it got any bigger we would need a crew."

Eventually, the Mickans also plan on getting their children and grandson Zachary more involved with the railway.

"Even though he (Zachary) is only three months old, when he first saw it his eyes went real wide," said Melody Mickan.

But for now, the Mickans will continue enjoying the railway that they have worked so hard to create.

Midwest Bonsai Society presents 24th annual show

The Midwest Bonsai Society will present its 24th annual exhibit at the Chicago Botanic Garden, Aug. 17 through 19. Hours are noon to 5 p.m. on Friday, Aug. 17, and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 18 and Sunday, Aug. 19.

Staged throughout the Botanic Garden's Education Center and adjoining outdoor areas, the exhibit will include the display of 150 bonsai trees, designed by hobbyists from across the Midwest, and reflecting all types of bonsai. This year, trees will be raffled during the exhibit.

The exhibit will feature demonstrations and workshops by internationally known bonsai masters, such as Warren Hill. Mr. Hill is the Curator of the National Bonsai and Penjing Museum in Washington D.C. He is one of America's most accomplished bonsai masters.

Continuous demonstrations and hands-on workshops will allow beginners and accomplished growers to learn more about bonsai from some of the world's finest experts.

Visitors can also enjoy the bonsai and other Japanese landscape features at the Botanic Garden's Japanese Island. Sansho-En, or "the garden of three islands," evokes a serenity and a harmony that in Japanese design express the essence of nature. With its carefully styled plants and judiciously placed stones, the garden is a tribute to the beauty of pure form. The Japanese Garden is located just east of the waterfall garden at the Botanic Garden.

Bonsai (pronounced bone-sigh) originated in far east Asia over a thousand years ago, flourishing in the gardens of China, and later Japan. For centuries, techniques were guarded secrets. The original bonsai specimens were trees growing on high craggy terrain which were naturally stunted by severe winds. They had sparse foliage with dramatic, twisting trunks, making them the envy of emperors. The art form began evolving when gardeners began cultivating the exotic, twisted dwarf look with techniques passed down from one generation to the next.

Experts will be on hand at the Bonsai Exhibit to answer questions and explain the shaping process to visitors.

Today, shaping and miniaturization aim at giving trees the appearance of age in a variety of artistic styles: upright, slanting, windswept, cascading - there's even a tiny forest grove category.

To accomplish this, the hobbyist looks for raw tree stock that has a weathered look and has an unusual bark and trunk. The tree is then cut back and bent to diminutive size by reducing root mass and reshaping the trunk and branches. This takes painstaking pruning and wiring. Care must be constant since trees are planted in low containers or on rocks with minimal soil.

Enthusiastic beginners can get started at the show by visiting the special outdoor area which will be devoted to 12 vendors selling bonsai trees, raw nursery stock, pots, tools and supplies to meet the needs of both novices and experienced growers. Sale hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday, Aug. 17, and 12 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 18 and Sunday, Aug. 19.

Educational lecture/demonstrations in the auditorium will offer beginners the opportunity to learn about bonsai culture and actually watch the shaping process. Demonstrations are $1; workshop prices vary. All exhibits are free.

Although admission is free to the show and Chicago Botanic Garden itself, there is a $7.75 per car parking fee. For more information on the Midwest Bonsai Society Show, access the web site at www.midwestbonsai.org or call the Garden at 835-5440.

Master gardener applications available

University of Illinois Extension in Lake County will offer Master Gardener training in 2002 says Sharon Yiesla, Unit Educator in Horticulture for Lake County. Master Gardeners are volunteers who receive training in home horticulture topics during the winter and early spring.

Qualified individuals should have the desire to work with people and an interest in gardening. One must have the time to volunteer as well as attend the training which will occur on Fridays, Jan. 11-April 5, 2002 (no class on March 29) at the University of Illinois Extension office, 100 S. Hwy. 45 in Grayslake. Classes are held from 9 a.m.-3:30 p.m.

When the training is complete, the volunteers donate time to Extension's horticulture program. Master Gardeners are involved in a number of activities, including answering phone calls from homeowners who have gardening questions, staffing information booths located throughout the county, working with senior citizens and giving slide presentations to gardening groups. Time can be volunteered on a schedule that is convenient for the individual. Usually this occurs April through Dec. of the training year.

Applications will be available beginning Sept. 4 and must be returned by Oct. 12. Call 223-8627 to request an application or for more information.

Sequel sure to get viewer's attention

To quote actor Patrick Swayze in one of his past films, "The extreme always seems to make an impression." Never before has this statement been so true as when one is referring to "American Pie 2," the eagerly anticipated sequel to the 1999 comedy, "American Pie."

Make an impression is exactly what the actors and actresses of "American Pie" do from the very first scene of the movie, when we find Jim (Jason Biggs) in his dorm room at college, one year after he and his friends spent their last year of high school together partying. Lo and behold, Jim's parents walk in on him in a pretty embarrassing situation, which is something Jim seems to always find himself in.

In the first film, Jim and his friends Stiffler (Seann William Scott), Oz (Chris Klein), Finch (Eddie Kaye Thomas) and Kevin (Thomas Ian Nicholas) took part in a testosterone-fueled attempt to see which one of them could lose their virginity first before heading off to college. While it is no secret that both this film and the first one movie review

involved very sexually-oriented themes, "American Pie 2" takes things a step further. Sex sells, and the people in Hollywood know this, and exploit it to death.

While the original film took time setting up a plot and characters, the sequel finds itself without a plot for most of the movie. After their first year in college, each of the guys meet up back in their home town, and decide to rent a beach house for the summer by pooling all of their money.

The guys work as painters to pay the rent and fund their summer. Stiffler, who is undoubtedly the perfect portrayal of the stereotypical Neanderthal pig of a male, is as crude as ever.

Meanwhile, we find Kevin wishing he was still with his girlfriend from the first film, while Oz spends most of the film expressing how much he misses his girlfriend Heather (Mena Suvari), who is vacationing in Europe. Virtually every joke in "American Pie 2" involves some sort of vulgar action, word or sexual innuendo, but still does a pretty good job of garnering some decent laughs at regular intervals. Still, this is no film to take your young child to.

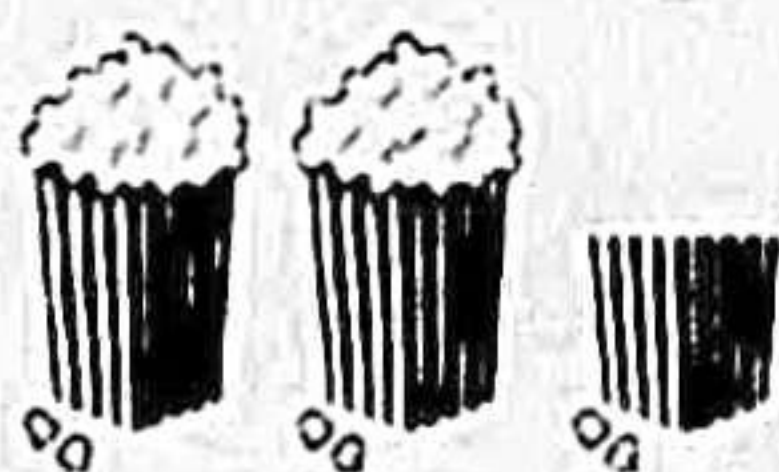

Then of course there is the delusional Sherman, a.k.a. "The Sherminator" (Chris Owen), who despite his scenes being few and far between, manages to steal the film. How you ask? Let's just say that never before has there been such a, shall we say, generous part written up for such a dorky character. It's something you have to see to believe.

While "American Pie 2" fails for its lack of plot, it certainly packs a punch for its surprise factor. Despite wanting to go into greater detail, it would be unfair to readers to reveal too much more, plain and simple. Yes, the flute-playing Michelle (Alyson Hannigan) and Jim's attractive foreign friend Nadia play big parts in this film, and despite all the crudeness of this movie, I would recommend it to those who just need an evening out to unwind, especially if you are a twenty-something guy.

In all honesty, there actually should be two movie reviews for this film, one for men and one for women. To be as fair as possible to those who read this each week, I spend a lot of time after a film thinking about not only how I view this film, but what others might say as well.

As a man who happens to be in his twenties, I would give this movie three-and-a-half popcorn boxes. I'm guessing most women would give it about one-and-a-half due to the shock value in this movie alone (I know this because I saw how many women covered their eyes during the show). Add them up and divide by two, and you get my verdict. Two-and-a-half popcorn boxes for "American Pie 2."

Outstanding talent shines

"Miss Saigon" has been one of the leaders in hi-tech stageproduction with a real helicopter and a classic Cadillac important integral parts of the presentation.

The powers that be at Lincolnshire's Marriott Theater took on what to some might have seemed an overwhelming challenge by putting this Viet Nam era "Madame Butterfly" on its arena stage. Directors Dyanne Early and Joe Leonardo, as well as producer Terry James, have made the cast, now unincumbered by the heavy technical artillery, the stars of the show as their talents demand they should be.

"Saigon" is the retiring Early's swan song and her best. James, who is no slouch vocally himself, presents the most powerful collection of voices gathered on Marriott's stage in recent memory.

The lighting, sound and set design experts at Marriott do wonders with propeller shadows, wind, and a deafening engine roar, assuring the audience that there is a real helicopter hovering over the stage during the fall of Saigon.

There are so many Americana bells and whistles on stage during the "American Dream" sequence that the legendary Caddy isn't missed.

Stephen Buntrock, as Chris, the American GI who finds love in the last days of the Viet Nam war, is superb both vocally and dramatically with "Why God Why" one of the most emotional and powerful vocals coming from Marriott's stage in years.

Other show stoppers include Buntrock and the equally talented Emy Baysic as Kim in their passionate "Last Night of the World" duet. Baysic and Susie McMonagle, the American wife, are musically magnificently singing "I Still Believe."

Jim Corti's Engineer is of the same high caliber with "American Dream" and "What a Waste" blasting the stage with excitement.

Not enough can be said about the buffo opening of Act II with the more than memorable "Bui-Doi" honoring the war's lost children, sent blazing across stage by Nikkieli DeMone and chorus.

No one steals "Miss Saigon." It is owned completely and equally by one of the finest casts and crews Marriott has ever assembled. A must see. —Gloria Davis

HOROSCOPE

Aries - March 21/April 20

You have a lot on your mind this week, Aries, and it has you on edge. Don't take your anxiety out on your loved ones. They just want to help you. Take some time for yourself to sort your thoughts out. An acquaintance offers to help with a personal problem. Say no, because he or she is really just snooping around.

Taurus - April 21/May 21

You face a difficult family situation late in the week, Taurus. Be strong; everyone is counting on you to help make things better. If you keep your emotions in check for a while, you'll work things out. That special someone buys you something special. Let him or her know how much this means to you.

Gemini - May 22/June 21

You're in for a treat this week, Gemini. Friends and loved ones show you how much they appreciate all that you do. Enjoy yourself. A close friend asks for advice about a romantic problem. Be honest with him or her; don't just blurt out clichés. Virgo plays an important role.

Cancer - June 22/July 22

You face several challenges this week. However, don't back down. If you stay determined, you definitely can succeed at each one of them. Those around you will be impressed with your accomplishments. A friend introduces you to someone very interesting. Be yourself, and you're sure to gain a new friend.

Leo - July 23/August 23

Don't let your pride get in the way of apologizing for a mistake that you make early in the week, Leo. Everyone slips up once in a while. It doesn't mean that you aren't a very capable person. Keep your chin up. Things will get much better soon. Scorpio plays an important role on Friday.

Virgo - Aug 24/Sept 22

Look at all of your options before making an important financial decision this week. You work too hard for your money to make a hasty choice. Remember, you can ask for help. You meet up with an old friend at the end of the week. Spend some time with him or her. You'll be surprised at what you learn.

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23

Even though you might not want to hear what family members have to say, listen to them. They're just looking out for you. Take their advice. A date late in the week, turns out to be all that you're hoping for and more. This is the start of a lasting relationship.

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22

A business associate tries to pull the wool over your eyes when it comes to an important project. Don't let him or her. You know how things are supposed to go. Take control of the situation. Your superiors will be impressed. That special someone has a bad day at the end of the week. Be supportive.

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec 21

Don't beat yourself up over a mistake that you made a while ago, Sagittarius. Learn from the past, and move on. If you stay focused, you'll come across an excellent financial opportunity. A close friend needs a shoulder to cry on. Listen to him or her, and be compassionate.

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan 20

When it comes to advancing your career, look before you leap, Capricorn. Things aren't always as good as they seem. Look at all of the pros and cons before getting involved. A loved one offers to help you with a personal problem. Take him or her up on it. You can't handle it alone.

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18

You're on the go this week, Aquarius. There's a lot to be done, and you're a little overwhelmed. Don't worry; if you stay focused, you'll come through with flying colors. A friend of a friend tells you how he or she really feels about you. Before making a commitment, think about what you want.

Places - Feb 19/March 20

It seems as if everyone wants something from you this week. Don't get upset. Just take some time for yourself. Then, you can deal with everyone else. A budding romance stops before it starts. It's OK — he or she wasn't the right one for you.

Lake County Board makes allowances for isolated wetlands

By HELEN MANSFIELD
Staff Reporter

The Lake County Board unanimously approved an ordinance amending the Lake County Watershed Development Ordinance taking on additional, individual wetlands that had previously been under the Army Corps of Engineers responsibility.

The board held its regular monthly meeting on Aug. 14. Members of the Stormwater Management Commission (SMC) were on hand to discuss what plans they had for newly released wetlands in the county.

In January of this year, the United States Supreme Court ruled that the Army Corps of Engineers no longer had jurisdiction over isolated wetlands.

The proposed amendments would allow for provisions of approximately 7,000 acres in Lake County by the SMC.

Chair Suzi Schmidt (Dist. 3-Lake Villa) said without the board's action, those acres would be unprotected.

SMC's Joe Hmielecki said that after several committee meetings and meeting with the public, the ordinance will mirror the one established by the Corps of Engineers prior to the Supreme Court ruling.

He said SMC began working in March with the county board to make the ordinance amendments.

Michael Warner, also with SMC, said that isolated wetlands in Lake County currently provide homes for over 100 endangered species, including sandhill cranes, green herons and the snowy egret.

He added that the county's wetlands provide hunting, fishing and boating opportunities for residents and ground water recharge and flood dissipation.

County Board Member Al Westerman (Dist. 7-Waukegan) said that 30-40 years ago, these animals weren't seen in the county and now with the isolated wetlands, their numbers are increasing.

Former Gurnee Mayor Welton recognized for stormwater service

By HELEN MANSFIELD
Staff Reporter

Former Gurnee Mayor Richard "Dick" Welton was recognized by the Lake County Board during its August 14 meeting for his 14 years of service on the Lake County Stormwater Management Commission.

Before his mayoral defeat in March, Welton has served as the board's president.

Welton, who in the past has preferred to act as a comedian, was gracious and stayed on the topic at hand.

"It has been an honor to serve and work with the county and the municipalities and hope that the work will continue," Welton said.

Lake County Board Member Angelo D. Kyle (Dist. 12-Waukegan) was recognized by fellow members of the county board after having been selected as second vice-president of the National Association of Counties Organization.

Kyle was presented with a framed copy of his campaign poster by Chair Suzi Schmidt (Dist. 3-Lake Villa) to commemorate his achievement.

Thanking the board, Kyle said he ran unopposed for the position, a situation he has never found himself in before.

"My staff did a great job in my campaign," Kyle said. "They scared the others into thinking we had a lot of money."

County schools receive construction grants

Lake County schools were among those receiving state construction grants. Gov. George Ryan said the grants illustrate the state's continued investment in providing modern and improved learning facilities for Illinois school children.

"Investing in the future of our children is one of the greatest responsibilities government has," Ryan said. "These grants reflect our commitment to quality educational facilities and quality education that will benefit today's students for the rest of their lives."

The school construction grant program is funded through Ryan's Illinois FIRST program and helps local school districts relieve overcrowded classrooms and replace old and deteriorating facilities. To date, more than $2.1 billion in state funds have been awarded to school districts throughout the state program, which is jointly administered by the Illinois Capital Development Board and the Illinois State Board of Education.

The grants announced today will help fund construction of 45 new schools and additions or renovations of 161 other out-dated school buildings.

Under the school construction program, local school districts must receive a project entitlement and secure the required local share of construction funds before receiving any state grant funds. The grants range from 35-75 percent of eligible construction costs. Enhancements such as swimming pools, gymnasiums and auditoriums are not considered eligible project costs and are excluded from any grant calculations. By law, the Chicago Public Schools receive 20 percent of all grant funds.

Currently, only those projects that address emergency needs, crowded classrooms and old buildings are being funded.

Lake County School's receiving grants were: Adlai E. Stevenson High School District 125, Antioch Community High School District 117, Fox Lake Grade School District 114, Lake Zurich School District 95, Libertyville School District 70, Lincolnshire-Prairie View School District 103, Mundelein Elementary School District 75, and Woodland Community Consolidated School District 50.

Ramp closures planned for Hwy. 41 at Rte. 120

Two ramps at the Hwy. 41 and Rte. 120 interchange in Lake County will be closed for concrete patching and resurfacing from Aug. 14-22, the Illinois Department of Transportation announced.

The ramp closures are part of a $3,994,029 project to resurface and repair bridges along Rte. 120 from Almond Road to Hwy. 41. The project is funded by Gov. George Ryan's Illinois FIRST program and is scheduled for completion in mid-September. The Peter Baker and Son Company of Lake Bluff is the contractor for the project.

Beginning Aug. 14, weather permitting, the eastbound Rte. 120 entrance ramp to southbound Hwy. 41 will be closed. Motorists will be detoured north on Greenleaf Street and east on Washington Street to enter Hwy. 41. In addition, the southbound Hwy. 41 exit ramp to eastbound Rte. 120 will be closed. Motorists will be directed to exit at eastbound Washington Street, then travel south on Green Bay Road (Rte. 131) to reach Rte. 120.

Individuals interested in obtaining construction information on this and other state highway improvement projects in the six-county Chicago area may visit the IDOT web site at www.dot.state.il.us and click the link to Projects.

Investors wary of religion-based fraud

Illinois Secretary of State Jesse White is warning people to beware of investment frauds involving religion in light of two major Illinois cases in which investors lost millions of dollars.

White and his securities department issued the warning, highlighting two Illinois investment fraud cases—St. Clair Industries, Inc., and Greater Ministries International Church reaching a total of $586 million.

"Cloaking an investment with religion can give it a false sense of safety," said White. "Many people borrowed money or invested their life savings based on the belief that a fellow church member could be trusted and instead they were sadly deceived."

St. Clair Industries and its president, Randall E. St. Clair, solicited 60 individuals, some from the Illinois church where he was a deacon. St. Clair falsely told investors that two oil wells had been drilled and were producing oil. He also told a fellow church member that he was offering her an investment in an oil well he liked helping widows. Other times, he would ask people to help find other investors from the church they attended or by providing a list of church references.

In 1999, the Illinois Secretary of State's office prohibited St. Clair and his company from offering or selling securities. In the end, St. Clair defrauded investors of over $8 million dollars. In June 2000, he was sentenced to 51 months in jail and to pay over $8 million in restitution.

"When you invest you shouldn't let your guard down merely because someone is appealing to your religion or your faith," said White. "Always do your homework. Be skeptical and careful when you invest."

In another case, the warning about religious-based investment scams coincides with the expected sentencing of Greater Ministries International Church founder, Gerald Payne, in federal district court in Tampa, Fla., on fraud and conspiracy charges. Nearly 28,000 investors nationwide and internationally, were persuaded by church leaders to mortgage their homes, run up large credit card debts or cash in retirement funds. From 1993-1999, Greater Ministries promised tens of thousands of investors that the church would double their money through divinely inspired investments in the foreign currency market and gold, silver and diamond mines in Africa and the Caribbean.

In June 2000, the church, which took in $578 million, was prohibited by the Illinois Secretary of State's office from offering or selling securities in Illinois.

State securities regulators say the Greater Ministries' fraud illustrates how large, sophisticated and pervasive religious-based investment scams are becoming. Over the past three years, securities regulators in 26 states, including Illinois, have taken actions against hundreds of companies and individuals that used religious or spiritual beliefs to gain the trust of investors—over 90,000 nationwide—before swindling many of them out of their life savings.

CLC NOTES

Art Exhibit

Steven Mendelson was a Highland Park artist who succumbed to AIDS in 1995. Twenty-eight of his pen and ink drawings will be shown for the first time at the College of Lake County's next exhibit, "Steve Mendelson: The Song of Amergin," opening Aug. 17. A public reception will be held from 7-9 p.m., Aug. 24 in the Robert T. Wright Community Gallery of Art.

Mendelson's drawings have been selected as representative of a larger series of 57 works. Many of these works were influenced by the ancient Celtic poem, "The Song of Amergin." The drawings vividly reflect the artist's battle with AIDS and the reality of impending mortality. The exhibition personalizes the suffering experienced by Mendelson.

Mendelson graduated from Highland Park High School in 1978 and earned his bachelor of fine arts degree from the Rhode Island School of Design in 1981. While in art school he completed a 20 foot pen and ink mural based on the Seventh Symphony of Jean Sibelius, which now hangs in the Chamber Hall of the Sibelius Academy in Helsinki, Finland.

Throughout the 12 years following his graduation, Mendelson had a distinguished career as an illustrator. He served as a staff illustrator for the Washington Post from 1981-86, and during that time he took a year's absence to work as an illustrator for a number of Scandinavian newspapers. His political illustrations poked fun at the world and political leaders. Most took these caricatures in stride, but a few victims of his pen were incensed. Political humorist Art Buchwald so loved Mendelson's irreverence that he had Mendelson illustrate four of his books.

During the early 1990s, Mendelson authored and illustrated three children's books, noted for their use of color. According to CLC gallery curator Steve Jones, Mendelson's work as a commercial illustrator refined his drawing and endowed him with a great command of visual images and symbolic references.

The gallery hours are 8 a.m.-9 p.m., Monday-Thursday, 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m., Friday and Saturday, and 1-5 p.m. Sunday. The gallery will be closed Aug. 18, 19 and Sept. 3. For information call 543-2240.

Back-to-School Rally

"Back-to-School Rally," a community event to bring together families and community leaders, will be held from noon-5 p.m., Aug. 25 on the Madison Avenue mall, outside the College of Lake County's Lakeshore Campus in Waukegan.

The program will feature motivational speakers presenting tips on successful parenting, making and keeping commitments and maintaining a positive attitude. A youth talent showcase and other entertainment also will be included in the program.

The event is being sponsored by the College of Lake County, Waukegan Housing Authority, Waukegan Park District, Waukegan Police Department, Waukegan Community Policing, Lake County Health Department, Urban League, Waukegan Township, Dr. M. Jeanne Dolphus Cotton and Associates and the CLC Talent Search Program.

Admission to the event is free and open to the public. For information, contact the Lakeshore Campus special events office at 543-2194.

Blood Drive

The College of Lake County health center, in cooperation with the American Red Cross, will conduct a blood drive from 9 a.m.-3 p.m. on Aug. 30 in the Brandel Court on the Grayslake Campus. Donors must be 17 or older, weigh at least 110 pounds, be in good health and not have donated blood within 56 days. Donors will receive a mini-physical that includes a blood pressure check and iron level county. The blood drive will be conducted on a walk-in basis. For information, call the CLC health center at 543-2064.

EDITORIAL

Highway hijinks the favorite game

As President Reagan used to say, "Here we go again." The former president's sigh of mildly irritated resignation applies aptly to Illinois Dept. of Transportation (IDOT) proposals to build an "outer belt" express highway linking Interstates 80 and 90.

The link, bantered about by IDOT for years, would be west of Rte. 47. Besides filling purported transportation needs, the connective highway would serve as a sort of demarcation between metropolitan exurbia and rural, agricultural Illinois.

No less than U.S. House Speaker Dennis Hastert has weighed in heavily to accelerate planning for the highway, which is also seen in some rather vague terms as a conduit to direct traffic toward the proposed Peotone Airport besides moving traffic around the congested metro area.

Whatever. The "outer belt" link is another example of the bureaucratic mentality that pervades Illinois highway transportation planning. Build more new roads at the expense of ignoring the needs and potential of existing highway corridors.

Where this leaves other pet projects of highway planners and politicians like the extension of Rte. 53 to the center of Lake County remains to be seen. Obviously, the IDOT brain trust has other things on its mind than building costly and controversial Rte. 53. The belt-way proposal undoubtedly has aroused delight (and no end of snickers) among Rte. 53 critics while causing consternation and frustration among adherents of Rte. 53, a four-decade-old scheme.

Maybe it's time for mostly Republican political chiefs, chambers of commerce leaders in this locality who dutifully support Rte. 53 and sundry other transportation policy wonks amongst us to ask, "What in the world is going on?" It sure ain't pushing their beloved Rte. 53!

While planners serving outlying Kane, Kendall and DeKalb counties are trying to figure out what the belt-way proposal is all about, one upshot of sprawl and congestion is the return of suburbanites in droves to downtown and other Chicago neighborhoods.

As we have suggested in the past, the return to the city hasn't gone unnoticed by Mayor Daley and could well be the underlying fact why there has been monumental foot-dragging by IDOT and other responsible parties for solving highway problems in Lake County and neighboring areas. And now comes another diversionary highway plan, the "outer belt" link, drawing attention away from sensible and doable projects like upgrading existing highway corridors—Rtes. 12, 45, 83, 22, 176, Grand Ave. and Belvidere Rd., to mention a few.

President Reagan had it right. "Here we go again."

Remap doubt aids incumbents

With legislative redistricting unsettled and headed for a court decision, incumbent legislators have a virtually unsurmountable advantage in running for re-election in 2002.

Lake County is due for additional representation based on the 2000 census, but new boundaries are uncertain, left only to speculation as the next campaign cycle is about to begin. Even incumbent state senators and state representatives will start their campaigns in a few weeks, not knowing how remap work will turn out.

For service-minded newcomers to the political arena, doubt over district boundaries make a commitment to run a long shot at best. In this climate, an unknown needs time, money and nerve. And even an ample war chest and the daring of an old-west gunslinger can't overcome the ticking campaign clock.

Redistricting for the Lake County Board and Congress was completed a long time ago, but General Assembly districts still are hung up in a political process that both parties not only condone, but seem to invite. Republican and Democratic leaders have a history of refusing to hammer out required redistricting. The process eventually ends up in the courts with the decision basically resting on a coin toss to decide which party gets the numerical advantage for the court appointed remap commission.

Twenty years ago the Democrats won the coin toss. Ten years ago the Republicans won and dictated the redistricting process. Illinois General Assembly redistricting is a crass and cynical example of abrogation of political responsibility. Yes, redistricting is political through and through, but a coin flip demeans the theory of representative government. If county and federal officials can redistrict, why can't the state?

VIEWPOINT

Wood positioned for governor bid

If there ever was an Illinois politician perfectly positioned to ascend to the governorship, it's Lt. Gov. Corinne Wood.

The petite, hard-driving Republican is a slate maker's dream. Female, happily married, pro-choice, working mom, supportive spouse, suburban resident, lawyer, experienced in government, well-heeled, has state-wide recognition, courageous (breast cancer survivor), dedicated, moderate; where do the attributes end?

The only knock ever landed on Wood is a back-handed compliment—that's she demanding of her staff and hard to please. A closer look at that criticism reveals that Corinne Wood possesses an old-fashioned work ethic. She expects—and demands—an honest day's work for a day's pay. What's not to like about that?

And above all, Wood has the "secret" ingredient for success in an Illinois gubernatorial—a Lake County address. If the Lake Forest resident runs and is elected in 2002, she will become the fifth Lake County resident in Illinois history to occupy the governor's mansion.

Gov. George Ryan's decision not to seek a second term opened the door for Wood four years early. Unlike past No. 2's, the lieutenant governor enthusiastically embraced her second banana role. While never hiding her ambition, Wood always has maintained a discreet deference to the guy, who went out of his way to compliment her.

Most important for Corinne Wood and the Republican party, the scandals hounding Gov. Ryan have not besmirched the lieutenant governor. Not even a smudge.

With no apologies, Lt. Gov. Wood can run on the accomplishments of the Ryan administration, while laying out her own agenda. Corinne

Wood will make a formidable candidate for governor of Illinois, possibly even unbeatable.

Drew appointed

Smart move. Waukegan Mayor Dan Drew was appointed to the Lake County Affordable Housing Commission in action taken by the Lake County Board Tuesday. No one is better acquainted with housing problems than the mayor of Waukegan, a city known for its diversity and wide-range of housing options.

No respect

As a customer specialist at Motorola, Carol Matt gets paid to be nice to people and sooth ruffled customers. Imagine the chagrin of the Ingleside mom when she was told by a park attendant to "find another park" when she inquired by phone about admission and parking charges.

"If anyone in our company ever spoke to a customer like that, we would be marched out the door," Matt declared.

When she wrote park management about the rude employee, her letter was returned—torn into pieces. Matt said Motorola sends a letter of apology to ill-treated customers. She wonders, is it not in vogue to treat customers (actually, everyone) with respect?

No consensus

Motorists wonder why it takes so long to solve traffic problems in this locality. One reason is that local governments have a difficult time reaching consensus. The age-old Rte. 22 widening proposal now is locked in a battle between Lincolnshire Mayor Barbara LaPiana who says the village council majority is dealing secretly with the Illinois Dept. of Transportation and Trustee Brent Blomberg of the majority who reports the village can get a three-lane plan that will save more than $18 million and protect private property. Blomberg views as a model three-lane Rte. 176 through Libertyville. LaPiana also has asked publicly why Blomberg conferred with Mundelein Mayor Marilyn Sindles on Rte. 22. Sounds like a scenario for a new sitcom.

Fall opener

It's still summer, but fall will be in the air Friday, Aug. 24, when the 2001 high school football season opens with a full schedule of games. Best time of year, prep football fans insist. Who's to argue?

Condell clamor

Walls are coming down at Con-dell Medical Center so a new expanded hospital can better serve the community. President Eugene Pritchard said the front entrance resembles a "Berut bombing." While the noise of jackhammers drowns out trucks hauling away mountains of debris, Lake County's largest hospital goes about daily tasks of patient care.

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

County GOP ticket shaped for spring

With candidacy announcement time drawing near, Republican leaders are issuing strong vibes that their ticket is set for four statutory county offices.

The GOP ticket will include re-election bids by Sheriff Gary Del Re, County Treasurer Robert "Bob" Skidmore, County Clerk Willard Helander plus the candidacy of Royce Lee Wood, top aide in the regional schools office, running for the superintendency being vacated by retiring Ed Gomwa. Primary challenges could alter the picture.

The four statutory offices will be the easy part. Up-in-the-air is candidate selection for legislative offices that still are in the throes of redistricting. That could carry on for months, far beyond the traditional fall jockeying for the spring primary.

State Sen. Terry Link (D-Vernon Hills), Lake County Democratic chairman, hasn't had any public pronouncements. Link has indicated that the Democrats definitely will field a challenger to Helander in the November election.

Guard for Jack?

Political activist Jack Martin may need a body guard the next time he visits Prairie Crossing, the environmentally sensitive community on Route 45. In a letter, Martin referred to "residents of the Prairie commune," meaning Prairie Crossing. Martin was irritated over the way delegates to an air quality summit at Libertyville Civic Center took an anti-Route 53 stance. Martin is the leading Route 53 advocate.

rior Bank was the revitalized Lyons Savings Bank that Pritzker acquired for only $43 million.

Waiting for surprise

Friends and supporters of State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) will honor the long-time Republican leader at a reception from 5-8 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 3, at the Country Squire. Last year Senate Majority Leader Pate Philip showed up to sing a duet with Geo-Karis. What surprise is planned this year?

Getting things done

Claude LeMere, former director of economic development for Antioch who now has the same job in Fox Lake, is off to a fast start. LeMere has two food companies interested in taking over space in a struggling shopping center and he is shaping a park plan for white elephant lake front property owned by the village. The food store reopening will be good news to senior citizens who complain about Jewel's high prices. The park would include a board walk and space for fishing and picnicking.

PAC collection

Township officials have been contacted about donating to TOIPAC, the political action committee operated by Township Officials of Illinois. TOIPAC was formed in 1990 by the state-wide organization to further its lobbying efforts. The recommended individual contribution is $5 each.

Justice building

County Board Rep. Sandy Cole (R-Grayslake), chair of the County Board Finance Committee, sees a trend eventually turning the County Building into a courts and justice center with many county departments relocating to other communities. "I would expect Waukegan leaders to be opposed for economic reasons," Cole observed.

Looking for links

Investigators are looking for links between the $500 million collapse of the Pritzker family controlled Superior Bank and land deals in Lake County. Spokesmen insisted the family was a "passive" investor, but Penny Pritzker, developer of Valley Lakes in the Village of Round Lake, sat on the Superior Bank board. The family has extensive land interests in the area between Waukegan and Libertyville. Super-

Gov. Ryan's friends sweated it out

It wasn't television's finest hour. In fact, it was rather embarrassing, or should have been, especially for Republicans.

I am referring to 5-6 p.m. on Wednesday of last week when Gov. George Ryan announced he would not seek another term.

That anticipated event should have taken two minutes, five tops, certainly not an hour. Especially since an audience of a thousand sympathetic constituents had been assembled outdoors in Ryan's hometown, Kankakee, where the temperature was in the middle 90s and the heat index topped 100.

The folks in the audience sitting in the sweltering heat were soaked in sweat and fanning themselves with whatever sheet of paper or program they could come up with.

I was watching on television in my air-conditioned living room and the boring, solicitous speeches made me uncomfortable. Had you been on the stage as one of the speakers, would you have ignored the audience's obvious discomfort and delivered a long-winded speech?

THE PFARR CORNER

Jerry Pfarr

Some of Ryan's lofty Republican colleagues did, including state GOP Chairman Rich Williamson, state Senate President James "Pate" Philip, and state House Minority leader Lee Daniels.

Those introductions lasted a half-hour, praising Ryan's progressive leadership during his 31 months as governor. They could have heeded that old advice for speakers, "Get up, speak up and shut up," but instead they apparently felt obligated to canonize Ryan.

Then the governor himself took a half-hour to make his announcement, ticking off his accomplishments and heaping praise upon himself for his three-decade Illinois political career. One analyst called it his "political obituary."

A Chicago newspaper columnist wrote, "The beleaguered governor showed signs of Fidel Castro-like windbagery in his seemingly endless announcement."

On occasions such as this, Republicans always like to remind us they are the party of Abraham Lincoln. Well, Lincoln did the Gettysburg Address in two minutes flat.

As Shakespeare said, "Brevity is the soul of wit."

John F. Kennedy, for one, loathed giving long-winded explanations of himself or the office of the presidency. When asked to discuss such matters, he would reply, "I have a nice home, the office is close by, and the pay is good."

Morris Udall, acknowledging his loss in the 1976 presidential primaries, said, "The voters have spoken—the bastards."

Gov. Ryan could similarly have polished his perch in history had he merely said: "The pollsters have spoken."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dangerous claim

You need to be aware of an insidious danger here in Illinois. Physical therapists perform a worthwhile service in rehabilitating patients post-surgically, or with muscle trauma and other such conditions. Unfortunately, there is a small insurgent group of therapists who claim to adjust the spine "just like" or "better than" chiropractors. This presents a danger to health of those under their care. It is beyond the legal scope of a physical therapist to make such claims. The law recognizes that this is a safety issue by specifically stating that therapists are "NOT ALLOWED" to use chiropractic technique.

It was not long ago that other health disciplines berated chiropractic as a waste of time and ineffective. These statements were based on biases and prejudices of the time. Chiropractic has often shown success where all other disciplines have failed. In today's health care marketplace there are groups scrambling to pilfer legally sanctioned practices from others who have something better to offer. Such is the case with the physical therapists in Illinois. The training of a physical therapist does not compare to that of a doctor of chiropractic in our specialty. It poses a great public health risk to make public claims as some in their ranks have done. They are not allowed to use the tools of a licensed chiropractor, such as spinal x-rays, for example. There is no way to perform a spinal adjustment properly and safely without these chiropractic tools and methods.

This information is offered as a public service from the Illinois Prairie State chiropractic Assn. to the chiropractic patients of Illinois, that they may be aware of the seriousness of the problem. Ask your doctor of chiropractic for further information regarding this important issue or contact the IPSCA at www.IPSCA.org.

Meaning of loss

Thirty-six years ago in July 27, 1965, we became adoptive parents of a son, and not until this year did we realize the loss this mother felt to give her son a life she couldn't provide.

Our son was born at St. Therese Hospital after a life was lost on a new construction accident at Grandwood Park where children were playing on trusses for a new home. One of the trusses fell over and crushed a boy while playing. The doctor that pronounced this little boy was the one who brought our son into the world.

Last Oct. 7, we received word that our son died of a heart attack in Annapolis, Md. Not until we went through our loss on his birthday, did we ever know what loss can mean.

We would like to express our sincere feelings for their loss. After 36 years we can also realize what their loss meant to them.

Any hope of reducing costly political campaigns?

As I write this column, there is yet no law on campaign financing. I hesitate to use the term "reform" even though when and if something goes to President George W. Bush to sign, somewhere in the title they will call it the Campaign Reform Act, titillating the electorate into believing that it is real reform.

The big difference all along has been "hard money" versus "soft money." The uninitiated among us would have thought that hard money means it's "in coins" and soft money is "paper money."

I realized that wasn't true when I found that Republicans were for hard money while the Democrats favored the soft kind. In all of the elections that I have followed over many years, the GOP always received tons more of the paper cash variety than Democrats.

No, soft money is a way of indirectly assisting candidates by allowing funds to be contributed and siphoned off for particular issues, getting out the vote drives and other means than outright contributions to candidates. Since Democrats rely heavily on campaign funds from labor organizations, Republicans say that the "soft money concept" is a way of subverting meaningful campaign financing principles.

SEEING IT THROUGH

Of course, Republicans rely on the U.S. Constitution to bolster their position. They say that the 1st Amendment should be observed allowing citizens the right to support candidates that they choose in the manner that they choose.

They know that their "fat cats" may not outnumber Democrat donors but their wallets are much thicker and the checks are "in the mail" more often. Those are the hard facts about hard money.

Truth be known both political parties would probably prefer to maintain the status quo. After all, the incumbents were elected under the present campaign laws, so why change." It is only the public outrage over the humongous amounts spent on political campaigns that is pushing the "campaign financing agenda." To his credit, Sen. John McCain made such a big issue of it during last year's election cycle, and the issue will not go away.

It seems as though every time that changes have been made in campaign financing, things get worse and election contests become more expensive, and there's no end in sight. There have always been rich candidates; some have been successful, and some have not; but we are reaching the point where you have to be rich to be considered for public office, especially higher office. That is scary, isn't it?

In all of the debate about campaign financing, I haven't heard much about the No. 1 cause of costly election campaigns. Much is said about where campaign funds come from, but not enough is said about where those funds go, how the campaign money is spent.

You don't have to be a rocket scientist to know that the bulk of spending in the very costly campaigns is used on television political advertising. We hear much rhetoric about TV pornography and the need to clean it up. Just as the policing of the industry on TV pornography may improve our moral climate, so too will restricting political TV advertising go to some lengths to clean up the electoral process and reduce dramatically the costs of elections. Guess what. It may also improve the moral climate in Washington.

It is a truism that there is a cause and effect political logic. When large political contributors donate those large sums, they expect something in return for the special interests that they represent. We will never clean up the process as long as political parties and candidates need scandalous amounts of money to run their campaigns.

Unfortunately, the scene in Washington is which political party can be blamed for what is wrong about government and life. For a change, the emphasis should be on doing what's right, and they can take credit for it. Is that too much to ask from our elected officials?

We'll find out when the smoke, "or smoke screen," on the campaign financing issue finally clears. Hold your bets.

Prevent blindness America stresses importance of early diagnosis and treatment of amblyopia

Vision screening of children is critically important. More than 12.1 million school-age children, or one in four, have some form of vision problem. Prevent Blindness America (PBA) and its network of field offices conduct vision screening programs in pre-schools and elementary schools to detect common eye problems that can lead to amblyopia ("lazy eye"), a sight-threatening problem in children. PBA sponsors Amblyopia Awareness Month in August to educate parents and the public about this serious childhood eye condition.

Amblyopia, also known as "lazy eye", has many causes. Most often it results from a misalignment of a child's eyes, such as crossed eyes. A difference in image quality between two eyes (one eye focuses better than the other) can also lead to the condition. With early detection and treatment, the chance for restoring vision is excellent, but by age 9 or 10, the chances are limited.

It is estimated that vision problems in nearly 430,000 children can cause permanent loss of sight, if left untreated. PBA recommends that children see an eye doctor, pediatrician, or family physician for a complete eye examination shortly after birth, at 6 months, between the ages of 3 and 5 before entering school and periodically throughout the school years.

Every Thursday evening during the summer and every other Thursday during the school year, PBA screens children for vision problems that can lead to amblyopia at the Chicago Children's Museum at Navy Pier. The screenings, which are offered on the 2nd floor from 5:30 p.m. to 8 p.m., are open to any child visiting the museum. "The free screening program has been greeted with a lot of enthusiasm by parents and children," said Jennifer Stolzenbach, Illinois program director. "Since its inception in January 2001, more than 400 kids have been screened from as far away as Nigeria," Stolzenbach added. For more information about this program and vision screenings in Illinois, call 312-346-9110.

PBA offers a wide range of information about amblyopia on their website, as well as a support group for parents and children called the Eye Patch Club. Information on the club is available at www.preventblindness.org/children/EyePatchClub.html. PBA also offers a Web Forum where parents can chat to each other about their children's eye problems and treatment.

Founded in 1908, Prevent Blindness America is the nation's leading volunteer eye health and safety organization dedicated to fighting blindness and saving sight. Focused on promoting a continuum of vision care, Prevent Blindness America touches the lives of millions of people each year through public and professional education, community and patient service programs and research. Together with a network of affiliates, divisions and chapters, it's committed to eliminating preventable blindness in America. Parents are doing the 'back to school jig'; kids are doing the 'back to school mope'

Hi Folks,

It's that wonderful time of year again! Parents are singing hallelujah and dancing a little 'back to school jig' and kids are woefully moaning and resentfully doing their 'back to school mope.' I'd like to devote this column to some suggestions I have for having a good school year. If you get on top of things from the start, things can work out far better.

1. If your child's teacher informs you of behavior problems, make sure to have a good system of rewards and consequences in place to handle the behavior in school. Remember, it is important to connect either positive or negative appropriate consequences to behavior, even if it is several hours later. Kids need to connect their behavior with their consequences so they learn not to do it again. It is even better if the school has some form of meaningful consequence so that it is more immediate, but it is just as easy to have good communication with the teacher and then help your child remember the actions that caused the consequence.

PARENT'S PLACE

2. Make sure that homework is done on a schedule. Don't just wait for the child to get around to the homework. Assign a time for every day, in which, homework is the only thing done. If it is structured and done at the same time each day, it becomes more important and is remembered more easily.

3. If your child asks for help with homework, instead of just giving the answers or doing the homework for him (none of us would ever do something like that...right?) gently pull the answers out of the child. Help the child do the reasoning even if it takes a little longer. The child will gain far more from that than just having you correct it for him.

4. If you suspect a problem, get your child tested immediately. You do not need to wait for the school to do the testing. There are many, many kids waiting for case studies these days. Each day you wait is a day your child is not getting help. The faster your child is tested, the better. Private testing can be faster. Call me! I can help with this.

5. Make sure your treatment is targeted to your child's problem. If your child's problem is simply an academic one, tutoring is probably o.k. If, however, you suspect processing problems, get in immediately. Processing problems can range from mild memory problems to absorption problems (not absorbing everything that is seen or heard) to organizational problems (not keeping track of assignments) to follow-through problems (not finishing homework) to complete sensory overload problems (what I call, 'Deer in the Headlights Syndrome'). While school does have LD services, the types of problems I mention here are not usually directly trained in school (even LD class), and do not respond to LD type of treatment. These kinds of problems require intense one-on-one training to improve. They require the building of new habits. Additionally, they do not usually get better with time or age. They require direct intervention.

Since the level of work difficulty in school increases each year, and processing problems do not get better with age, the child with processing problems becomes more and more discouraged over time until he or she can become extremely avoidant of all school work. Additionally, acting out or depression can occur if the child gets frustrated enough. This can be devastating to the child's future. You will recognize this by bad behavior or the child claiming to be "stupid" or "dumb." If your child isn't absorbing things around him now, it will effect his entire learning experience and his opinion of learning. Treatment that improves absorption is the best thing for these types of problems. My kind of treatment for this targets the specific roots of the problem and eradicates them. This type of treatment is done without the use of drugs as well. Take care of it early and it can resolve itself more quickly than you think. Call me and we can do an evaluation to help your child get on the right track. I can help you determine if processing is a problem for your children so we can train them and get them processing things smoothly for a great school year.

6. Try and train your kids to do a little studying each night instead of large amounts right before the test. There is research out there that suggests that studying a little every night and sleeping on it solidifies memory more than cramming the night before a test. We all know this intuitively and we say it to our kids but don't usually enforce it. Make sure there is at least 10 minutes of the night to go over the new material from the day.

7. Teach your child about breaks. It is important for even young kids to learn about hard work and taking breaks every so often. Show them how it's done. Through this, they will develop more of a fondness for getting the job done.

8. Never believe that your child "can't learn." Being a Psychologist, I have had many people bring their kids to me for processing help and have heard it all. I have had many a Psychological report come into my office telling me and the parents that the child is not capable of learning or has some unmovable problem that will not change and that parents better just lower expectations. I have always said and will say again that this is a pile of hooey! Unless your child actually has a physical barrier to learning, as in something physically different about his or her brain (that can be proven,) your child can learn voraciously if given the right training. Most kids who look like they can't learn, are just so sick of being maligned because they don't learn like the other kids, that they just avoid trying anymore. I have seen many kids like that start to believe in themselves just by hearing me continue to tell them that they CAN, and also by showing them that they can over and over and over again. Do not ever give up on your child's potential, even if your information comes from an "expert." I happened to catch just a few minutes of a movie I have yet to see but will see as soon as I get some time. It was called "The Miracle Worker." You might be familiar with it because it is an old movie with Patty Duke and Melissa Gilbert. This was the story of Helen Keller and her teacher. This was a teacher who never gave up on Helen Keller and actually taught communication skills to this girl who was blind, deaf and mute. Now, it is a true story!

If this could happen with a child with mechanical issues like those, any child has the potential to shoot for the stars if given the right direction long enough! Enough of a pep talk. Hope the beginning of school is a good one for you and your kids!

What would you do if your doctor said nothing more could be done for you?

Vickie Girard called CTCA.

| Diagnosed as terminal, Vickie came to CTCA for hope. That was eight years ago.

Vickie heard the worst from doctors she consulted after being diagnosed with stage four breast cancer that had metastasized to her bones.

Four different doctors at four different hospitals said she would have six months to live. That was when her husband saw an ad on television and urged her to make just one more phone call. She called Cancer Treatment Centers of America.

It was a phone call that changed her life.

From CTCA, she got the nutritional, emotional and spiritual support she needed, but there was much more. She also got the best medical treatment cancer-fighting technology had to offer. Considered experimental at the time by her insurance company, she received a bone marrow transplant that saved her life.*

Vickie was not alone. There are others. In fact, many patients who come to CTCA have already heard the worst from another hospital when they still have a treatable disease.

Today, Vickie Girard is an inspirational author and speaker. Traveling across the country, she speaks to hundreds of people at a time, spreading her message of 'where there is life, there is hope.' Her book "There's No Place Like Hope," available in bookstores nationwide, is a first-person resource for those battling cancer.

Reverse mortgage useful for seniors' financing

A home financing alternative that allows senior citizens to tap the equity in their homes to supplement their retirement incomes is gaining popularity and quickly.

According to the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), the number of reverse mortgages has more than quadrupled since the early 1990s when the product was first introduced.

"We've seen tremendous increase in demand for reverse mortgages over the last few years. This year alone, we expect to close 1,900 reverse mortgages, an increase of 58 percent over last year," said Jeffrey Taylor, vice president of senior products for Wells Fargo Home Mortgage. "We believe there are three primary reasons for this growth: a better understanding of the product; an aging population; and an effort by various organizations to promote the benefits and flexibility of the product."

A reverse mortgage is a loan that enables senior homeowners to convert part of the equity in their home into tax-free income without having to sell their home, give up title, or take on a new monthly mortgage payment. In general, reverse mortgages are limited to individuals 62 years old or older who own their homes free and clear of debt or have only a small loan balance remaining.

One of the biggest selling points of the reverse mortgage is its flexibility. The product allows senior homeowners to choose how they want to receive their mortgage funds: 1) as a lump sum; 2) as monthly income—for up to life; 3) as a lien of credit; or (4) as a combination of monthly income and line of credit. These funds can then be used at the homeowner's discretion—to pay for home repairs, medical costs, in-home care, education, or simply as supplemental retirement income.

No monthly payments are made on a reverse mortgage during its term. It simply becomes repayable when the home is sold or vacated for other reasons. In addition, the repayment amount cannot exceed the value of the home. Any excess proceeds belong to the homeowner or the estate. Homeowners who use reverse mortgages never owe more than the value of their homes or the amount borrowed under the terms of the loan, whichever is less.

Here's how a reverse mortgage might work: A 70-year-old homeowner, with a property value of $200,000, could select a monthly disbursement of $700 for as long as he/she lives in the home, or a monthly payment of $1,200 for a 10-year term. Or, the homeowner could receive an open credit line or lump sum payment of $105,000.

"A home is one of the most powerful assets we have during our lifetimes," Taylor said. "A reverse mortgage is a privilege of longtime homeownership and a great opportunity for eligible seniors to ease their financial burden. It's no wonder so many are exploring this option."

Credit reports can bring surprises

When was the last time you checked your credit report?

If you are planning to apply for a mortgage, you'll want to make sure you have cleared up any outstanding balances with your creditors before you begin the application process. Mistakes are possible, such as a department store credit card carrying a balance you are unaware of, or are possible, such as a department store credit card carrying a balance you are unaware of, or payments made to pay off a balance may have been received but not yet noted in the report.

How do you keep your report glitch-free? Here are a few tips to follow before you apply for a mortgage:

- Check it ASAP. Get a credit report several months before you expect to begin the application process to see where you stand. If you need to pay off outstanding debts, repairs in your credit history can take months to appear in the report.

- Consolidate your debt. This strategy, along with paying down as many of the bills as possible, is the fastest way to improve your credit score.

- Keep out of trouble. Negative payment information, such as delinquencies or accounts turned over to collection agencies will remain on your credit report for seven years. Bankruptcies stick around for 10.

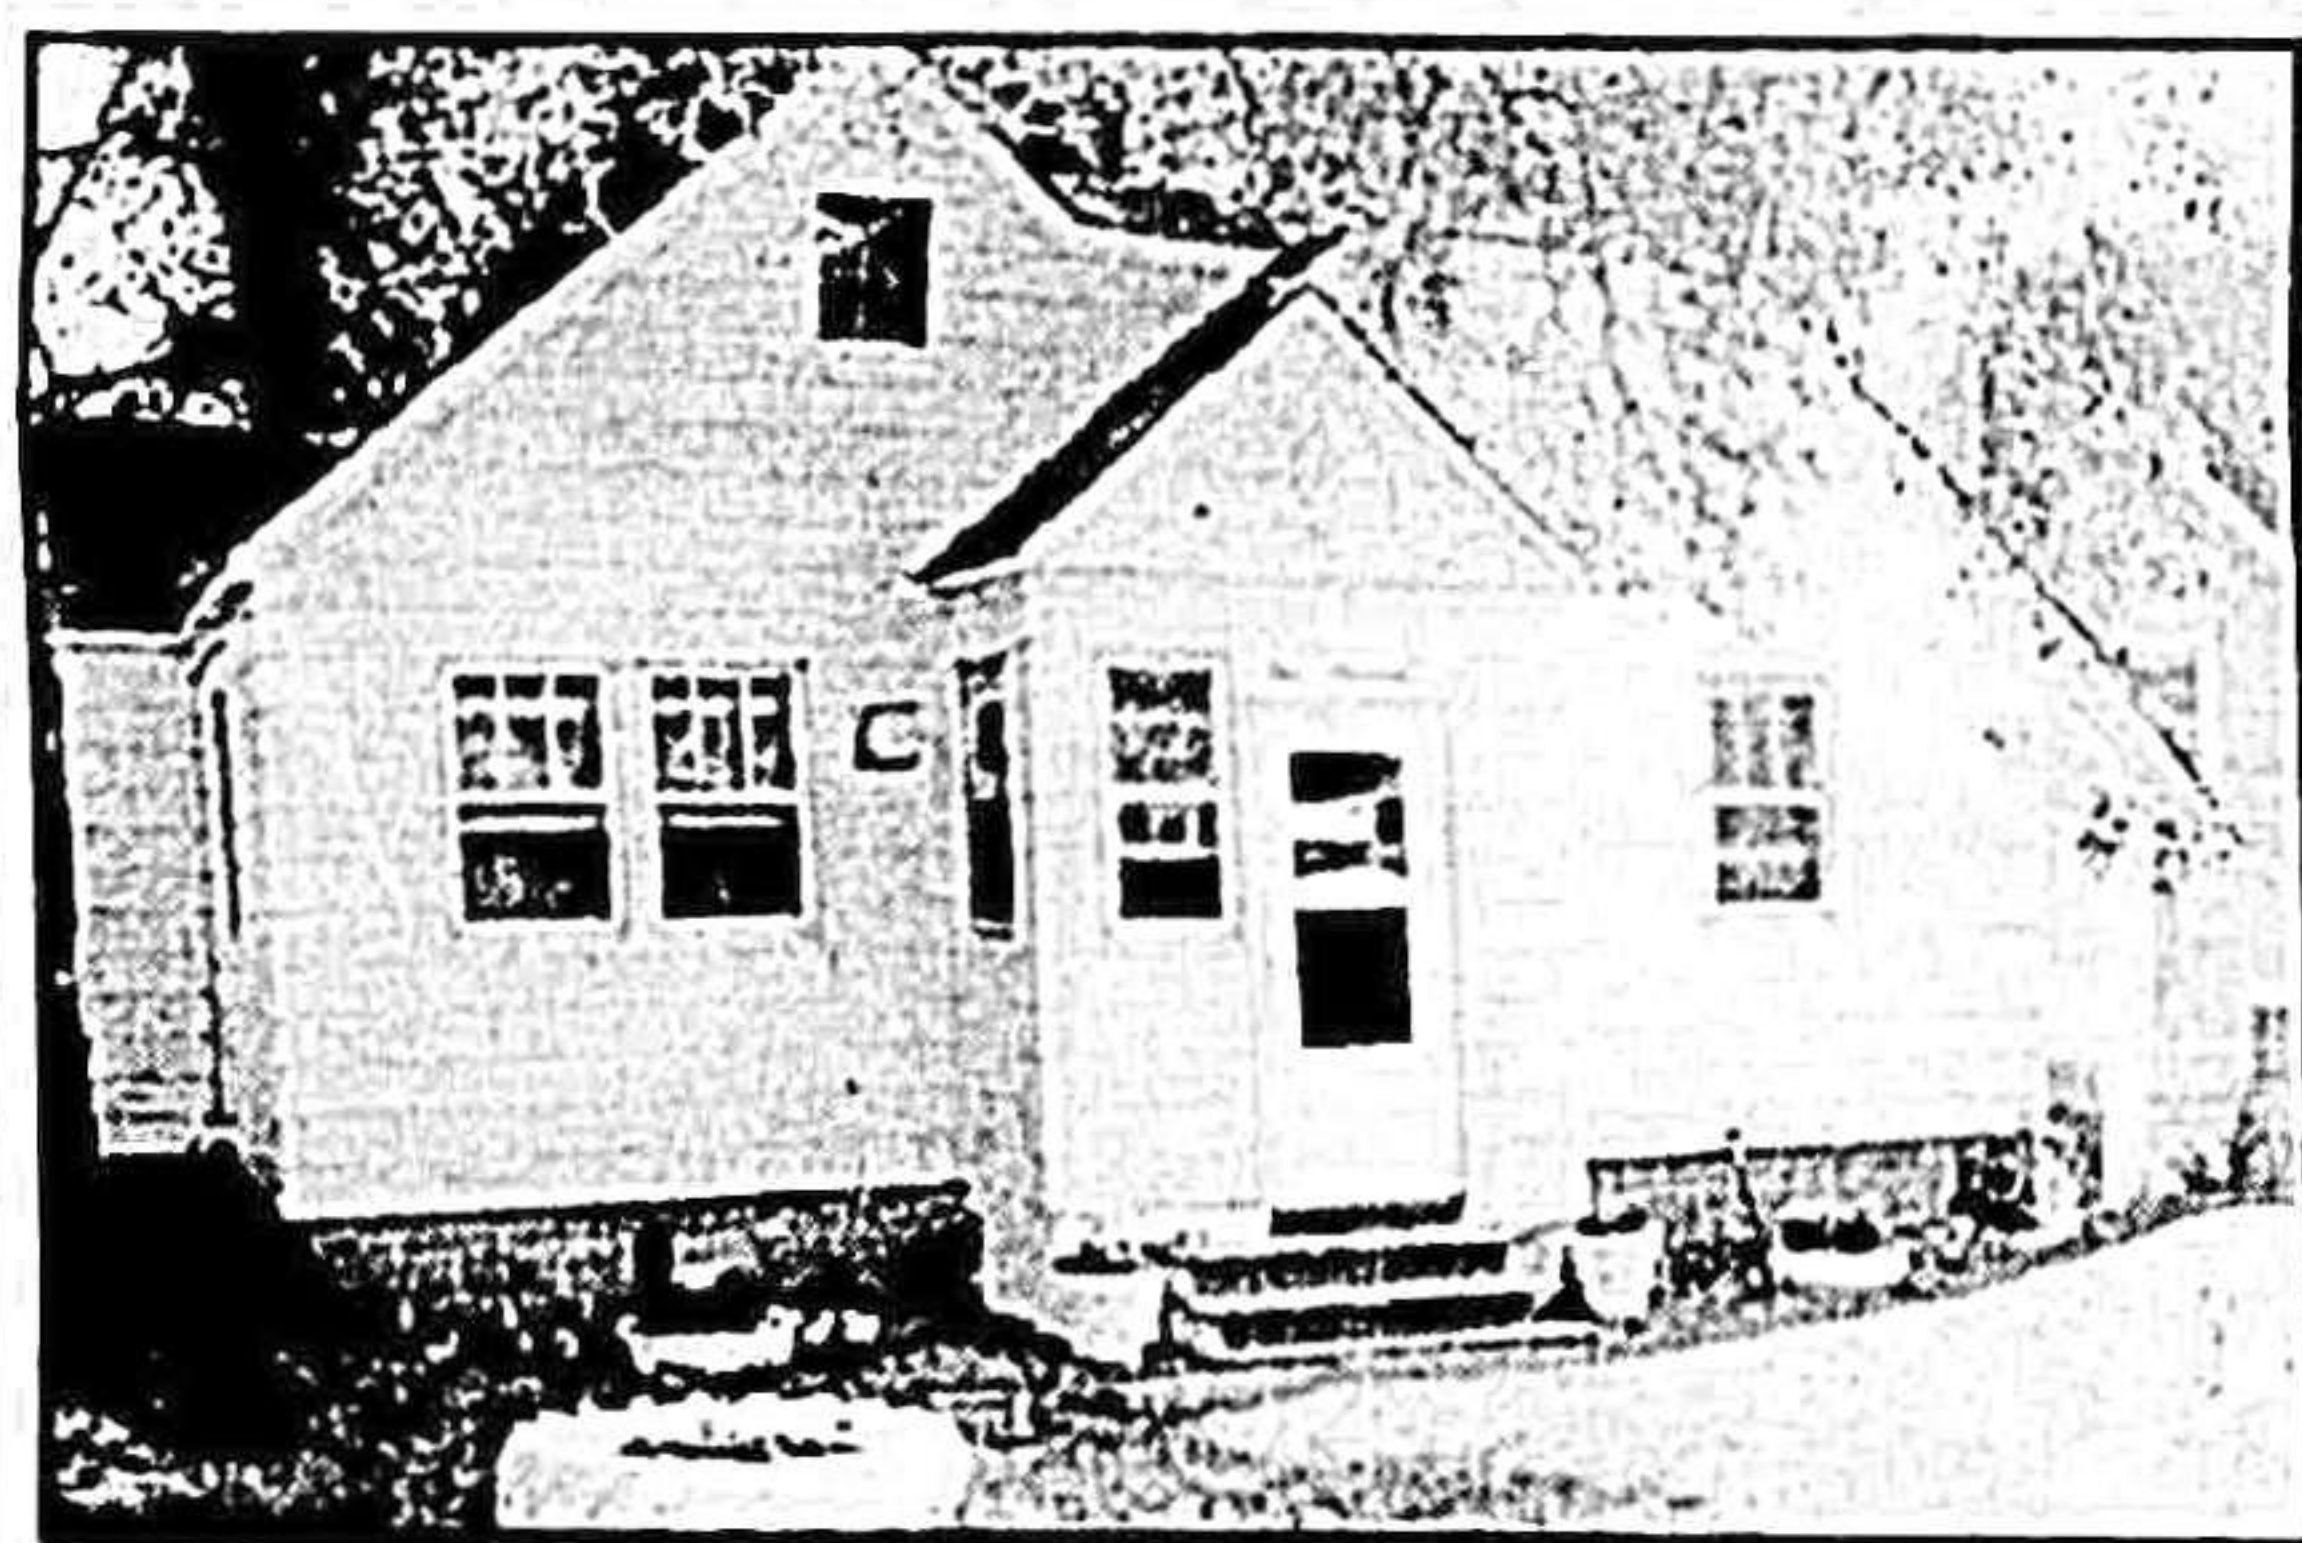

- Lower your liability. "Holding extra credit cards, even those you don't regularly use, raises your overall credit line and increases your potential to run up debt," said Steve Brandenburg, regional vice president, Coldwell Banker Mortgage. "Keep only the cards you need and your credit will be easier to maintain."

Home value depends on surroundings

The term "property value" gets tossed around a lot in real estate conversations. We hear that new kitchen cabinets will raise it or that the proposed nuclear plant down the street will lower it, and so on.

What does property value really measure? Both examples above are true, but property value is a better reflection of what's around your home than what's inside.

When deciding to sell your home, here are some of the factors that your Realtor will take into account when determining your property value and subsequently, your asking price.

•Community Amenities: Neighborhood parks, libraries, playgrounds and bike paths will boost your property value if they're kept clean and safe.

•Schools: Good school districts are very attractive to young parents and will also raise your value.

•Transportation: "Your proximity to buses and trains isn't the only determining factor," said Fran Broude, senior regional vice president, Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage. "If you live near an expressway, your home is more appealing to buyers who commute by car." Of course, being backed up to a loud expressway will bring values down.

•Current and planned land use: What is planned for the area around you is just as important as what is already there. If there is vacant space nearby, find out through your local zoning commission if there is something in the works.

•Forces of nature: Areas prone to floods, wildfires and earthquakes will take their toll on property values by preventing a buyer from obtaining homeowner's insurance.

Program allocated $600,000 to support housing efforts

The Lake County Board's Community and Economic Development Committee approved a program to support affordable housing activities in Lake County. The Affordable Housing Program (AHP) provides financial assistance to municipalities, non-profit and for-profit entities to develop and maintain the housing stock of low and moderate-income residents.

The AHP has $600,000 to allocate this fiscal year. On-going funding for the program is now part of the county's capital improvement plan budget, which allows it to be an annually budgeted item pending approval of the county board.

"Now that the Community and Economic Development Committee has approved the initial criteria for allocating these funds, it is our goal to put the accumulated $600,000 to work on approved projects as soon as possible," said Peggy Shorts, county board members and chair of the Community and Economic Development Committee.

Program activities that are eligible for county assistance can involve rehabilitation or construction activities, conversion of underutilized non-housing or brownfield properties, education and training apprenticeships that result in the construction of affordable housing units, employer-assisted housing programs and first-time homebuyers programs.

"This is a county-funded initiative that can compliment other programs or fill the gap where programs don't meet the need. We are proud to take a proactive approach to help create more affordable housing in Lake County," said Philip Rovang, director of planning building and development.

Income eligibility will be based on household income that is up to 100 percent of the Chicago area median income, as determined annually by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. For example, a four-person household could have an income of $70,500 and be eligible for sponsored program-funded activities. While individuals cannot apply directly for the funds, they are encouraged to apply through agencies that have applied for and received funding from the county after Oct. 1.

The maximum funding for existing housing activities is $10,000 per dwelling unit. Financial assistance toward new construction activities will not exceed $25,000 per dwelling unit. First time homebuyer assistance will not exceed $5,000 per dwelling unit.

Application materials will be available from the Lake County Planning, Building and Development Department in Waukegan after Sept. 1. The first round of applications must be completed and received by Oct. 1 to be considered for the $600,000 allocation in 2001.

Additional information regarding the Lake County Affordable Housing Program can be obtained by calling the county's Community Development Division at 377-2150.

Forest Preserve initiative signed

Local taxpayers asked to vote on forest preserve referenda questions would have more specific information about the issue available right on the ballot, under a new law initiated by the Lake County Forest Preserve and State Rep. Andrea Moore.

The new law will allow any forest preserve district seeking voter approval of an increase in its levy to include more information on the ballot to help voters make an educated decision. The additional information may include: what the additional funds would be used for, such as outdoor recreation, education or maintenance; the impact the increase would have on the average homeowner's tax bill; and the date of the last levy increase approved by voters.

Power plant air pollution targeted

Legislation signed Aug. 8 by Gov. George H. Ryan establishes a new rule-making process aimed at reducing air pollution from Illinois' power plants. The legislation, which focuses on sulfur dioxide, nitrogen oxides, mercury and green house gasses, is the first multi-pollutant power plant emissions strategy undertaken by a Midwestern state.

"My goal is for all power plants to reduce their emissions to the lowest possible levels consistent with ensuring that Illinois has an affordable, reliable and adequate supply of electricity," Ryan said. "We can reach this goal with a balanced mix of controls and trading programs."

The legislation was agreed to by the electric-generating industry and environmentalists after extensive negotiations lead by the governor's office and legislative leaders. The bill would apply to most fossil-fueled power plants.

The key provisions of the rule-making process include:

The Illinois EPA will issue findings about the need for reducing power plant emissions by considering health issues, costs, Illinois coal and impacts on the electric system and increased use of renewable sources of energy. The findings will be contained in a report issued between Sept. 30, 2003, and Sept. 30, 2004.

The Illinois EPA report will be provided to the House and Senate Environment and Energy Committees. Ninety days after the submission of the report, the Illinois EPA may propose rules to the Illinois Pollution Control Board to implement the report's findings.

The Pollution Control Board must act on the proposed rules within one year.

"Air quality in Illinois has improved dramatically in the past three decades, but more still needs to be done," said Tom Skinner, director of the Illinois EPA. "This legislation provides a strong platform for continued progress."

The bill's sponsors included Sen. Terry Link (D-Vernon Hills) and Rep. Andrea Moore (R-Libertyville).

Law supports programs for the disabled

Gov. George Ryan signed into law a bill sponsored by State Rep. Susan Garrett (D-Lake Forest) that will expand recreational programs for the disabled.

"We are always working to make our parks and recreational programs more user-friendly for people with disabilities. Now we have ensured that the handicapped population will be better served and be able to participate in programs offered at park districts throughout Lake County," said Garrett.

The new law, SB 755, allows two or more park districts or units of governments to jointly acquire and own property for recreational programs for the handicapped. The joint agreements, called special recreation associations, also include provisions for transportation, location of recreation areas, sharing of expenses and employing trained personnel.

The new law becomes effective Jan. 1, 2002.

Making way

Midwestern Regional Medical Center President and CEO Roger Cary mans the controls as he starts demolition of a house in a symbolic ground-breaking ceremony at the south edge of the hospital grounds in Zion. The removal of two houses makes way for what will eventually be a 60-space patient parking lot. The construction project includes adding three floors on top of the hospital's radiation oncology center for Cancer Treatment Centers of America. The hospital treats cancer patients from all 50 states and 45 foreign countries.

County continues push for funding

Lake County Board Chair Suzi Schmidt sent a letter dated Aug. 8 to all 176 Illinois senators and representatives, urging them to support SB1171, a bill that would permit a referendum question asking county residents whether they support a one-quarter percent sales tax increase to pay for construction, maintenance, operation and improvements to county highways. Alleviating traffic congestion remains the county board's highest priority, and county officials are hopeful that SB1171 will pass at the legislature's fall veto session.

Despite the efforts of Lake County's state legislators, the bill failed to pass prior to the general assembly's summer recess. Any bill that did not pass the state legislature prior to its May 31 adjournment, will have to be reintroduced during the fall legislative session.

"We're disappointed that the state failed to pass the bill despite the county's residents showing support for a referendum. But we got farther than we ever have in the past, and as traffic continues to worsen, we will have greater success," Schmidt said.

The bill, sponsored by State Senators Adeline Geo-Karis, William Peterson and Terry Link, was introduced as SB0697 and passed the state senate by a 43-13 margin. Hours before the spring legislative session ended, the sales tax legislation also passed out of the house as part of much larger legislative package, which the senate did not consider before the session ended. The senate may consider this legislation during the November legislative session.

State Senators from Lake County utilized the results of a Lake County Board sponsored survey to push the bill through the senate. The survey of 802 residents found that over 60 percent of residents would vote in favor of authorizing an increase in taxes for funding to address the traffic problem in the county.

An additional one-quarter percent sales tax would raise a projected $15 million to $20 million for projects designed to mitigate traffic congestion in Lake County.

Wireless phone donations sought

Lake County officials are asking local residents to take part in the "Donate a Phone Campaign." The campaign is an extension of the Wireless Foundation's Call to Protect program, which provides wireless phones and airtime to victims of domestic violence. These phones offer victims instant access to help in case of emergencies.

Lake County residents can participate by sending any hand-carried (not vehicle installed) cellular or PCS phone that is no longer needed, including phone batteries and chargers. So-called bag phones, old cellular or PCS phones can still help the cause no matter what size, appearance or condition they are in. Drop off locations are available at the Information Center in the Lake County Government Building, 18 N. County St., Waukegan.

All "Call to Protect Phones" are pre-programmed to dial 911 and one non-emergency number, such as a domestic violence shelter or a police non-emergency phone line. Phones are distributed to potential victims through domestic violence organizations, participating police departments and the district attorney's offices.

Unused phones and shipping costs are both tax deductible and no charges will be made to residents once the phones are refurbished.

The "Donate a Phone" campaign is part of Lake County Cares, which encourages volunteerism by offering volunteer opportunities for Lake County employees and retirees in an effort to make a difference in communities throughout Lake County.

Habitat volunteer meeting

Habitat for Humanity Lake County will hold its monthly volunteer orientation meeting on Tuesday, Aug. 21 at 7:30 p.m. at the Habitat for Humanity office, 315 N. Utica, Waukegan. The meetings take place on the third Tuesday of each month (except December) and provide an opportunity to learn about Habitat and its volunteer needs.

Habitat is seeking persons who can translate for its Spanish-speaking homeowners or applicants at evening or Saturday meetings. Volunteers may help at one or more meetings.

Habitat always has an urgent need for skilled construction workers but novices can help too. Other volunteer opportunities include: office receptionist one or more afternoons a week, planning fundraising events, staffing the building material resale program, picking up donated items and more.

Habitat for Humanity Lake County is the local affiliate of Habitat for Humanity International, a non-profit, ecumenical, Christian housing ministry that seeks to eliminate poverty housing and homelessness worldwide. Habitat is not a give-away program. Homes are sold to partner families at no profit with interest-free mortgages. Each family is required to contribute 500 hours on the construction of their home or other Habitat needs. House payments are recycled to build more homes for struggling families in our community.

There is no obligation for attending the meeting. For more information call Habitat at 623-1020.

BACK TO SCHOOL GUIDE

Get an A+ creating interesting lunches for kids

It's time for children to go back to school! Preparing your child for the upcoming school year can mean buying a new school wardrobe, purchasing notebooks, pens and other supplies, and of course, coming up with new lunch ideas if your child doesn't eat the school's hot lunch.

Because the parent of one school-age child makes, on average, at least 150 lunches during the school year, devising a menu of lunches that he or she will eat can be a difficult task. Be sure to keep in mind that children's tastes vary. Some kids want a wide variety of sandwiches, and other lunch items, while other children are happy having the same peanut-butter-and-jelly sandwich every day for two years!

Research has shown that there is a definite link between good nutrition, health and learning. Therefore, it is important that children eat a healthy lunch daily. If your child is bringing his or her own lunch to school, you will want to pack a meal that contains a variety of offerings, but not so outrageous that it ends up in the garbage pail. How can you do that? First, it is important to acknowledge the tastes of your child. For example, if he or she doesn't like apricots and won't eat them at home, there is no way they will be eaten as part of lunch. Ask your child to get involved with the lunch planning, preparing and packing process.

The best way to ensure that your child's lunch doesn't end up in the trash or possibly even traded with a friend is to make your lunch offerings ones that your child will enjoy. Think variety and fun. This is not to say that loading a lunch with sugar-filled snacks is the only way to get him or her to eat lunch. There are many ways to get children to eat healthy, fun-filled lunches:

- Use the USDA Food Guide Pyramid as a guide for creating healthy and appetizing meals. Try to include at least one serving from each of the food groups: dairy, fruits, vegetables, grains and cereal, and meats and poultry.

- Try to include foods with varied tastes, textures and colors. Include something salty, something sweet and something sour, and try to have at least one crispy item and one chewy item.

- Remember that the average lunch period lasts between 20 and 45 minutes. This includes the time children spend chatting and using the restrooms, so be sure to include snacks that are simple to eat. For example, peeling an orange prior to adding it into the lunch bag helps children save time and allows them to just pop the orange slices in their mouths.

- Condiment packets from fast-food restaurants, like ketchup, mustard and mayonnaise, are perfect for lunch. Place a few packets in a lunch box, rather than placing the condiments on the sandwich directly. Children can add them onto the sandwich before eating; this keeps sandwiches from getting soggy.

- Rather than cutting sandwiches into "boring" squares and triangles, add some pizzazz and make sandwiches fun by using cookie cutters, in fun shapes like diamonds, hearts, initials, etc.

- Vary bread offerings for sandwiches: instead of using white or wheat sliced bread everyday, try using pita pockets, cinnamon-raisin bread, mini bagels, tortillas (perfect for rolled sandwiches) and even mini dinner rolls.

- Cut vegetables into bite-size pieces, pack in a sealed plastic bag for freshness, and send alongside a container of flavored cream cheese or salsa for dipping.

- You don't always have to send a sandwich. A cup of soup, kept warm in a sealed thermos, a container filled with pasta salad or even a cold slice of pizza (if your child likes cold pizza) are healthy and tasty lunch ideas.

- Pack a "picnic" with crackers, cheese, deli-meat slices and some fresh fruit. Children then can make their own cracker sandwiches.

When planning and making your child's lunches this school year, keep in mind that it takes a lot of creativity and ingenuity to create a "good" lunch that your child will want to eat, especially if he or she is very picky. However, with a little bit of thought and help from your child, creating healthy, nutritious yet delicious lunchtime fare will be as easy "A, B, C."

Back-to-school survival aid for parents offered

(WMS) When you received your diploma you probably thought you'd seen the last of algebra, geometry and many other subjects, right? Perhaps relief washed over you when you figured you'd solved your last word problem or made your last "supply vs. demand" graph in economics. However, these subjects often reappear during parenthood, sometimes when least expected.

Be honest, which would you rather your child ask for: the car keys or homework help? The truth is, most self-respecting parents can confidently answer questions about homework - from a first grader. But when that trusting child becomes a teen-ager struggling with algebra, chemistry, the facts of history, and the rules of grammar - in French - parents can feel as baffled and overwhelmed as the student.

Now, the same study aid that helped millions of students throughout the years, can help parents brush up on their homework know-how. CliffsQuickReview series is designed to help students make the grade, but it is also turning out to be very parent-friendly in that it can help give parents a head start on answering and asking questions about their child's homework. Even those who aren't algebraically or geometrically challenged can use the CliffsQuick Reviews to stay on top of their child's assignments and actively share in the learning experience.

Covering a range of subjects studied in junior high, high school and college, the series features an easy-to-navigate design, bullet points at the start of a chapter, quick quizzes at chapter ends, key definitions and core information. The series covers algebra, biology, history and more.

Be aware: Learn about your children's friends

Every parent would like to believe that their child is drug-free, doesn't smoke, doesn't drink and stays out of trouble. Yet, the world we live does not mirror that of June and Ward Cleaver - negative behaviors can be adopted from a variety of sources.

One of the easiest ways to understand what influences your child may witness is to get to know his or her friends. A close friend usually will have the same interests as your child and can be a good indicator of the types of activities in which your child is involved when your child won't open up.

Here are some ways to get to know your child's friends:

- * Have regular conversations with your child as to how he or she spends time away from home.

- * Encourage your child to invite his or her friends over the house for lunch or a study session.

* Make your home a welcome place for other children who are the same age as your child. This way they'll feel comfortable around you and will be willing to chat and come to you if problems arise.

* If your child is going over someone's house whom you've never met. Ask for a phone number where he or she can be reached.

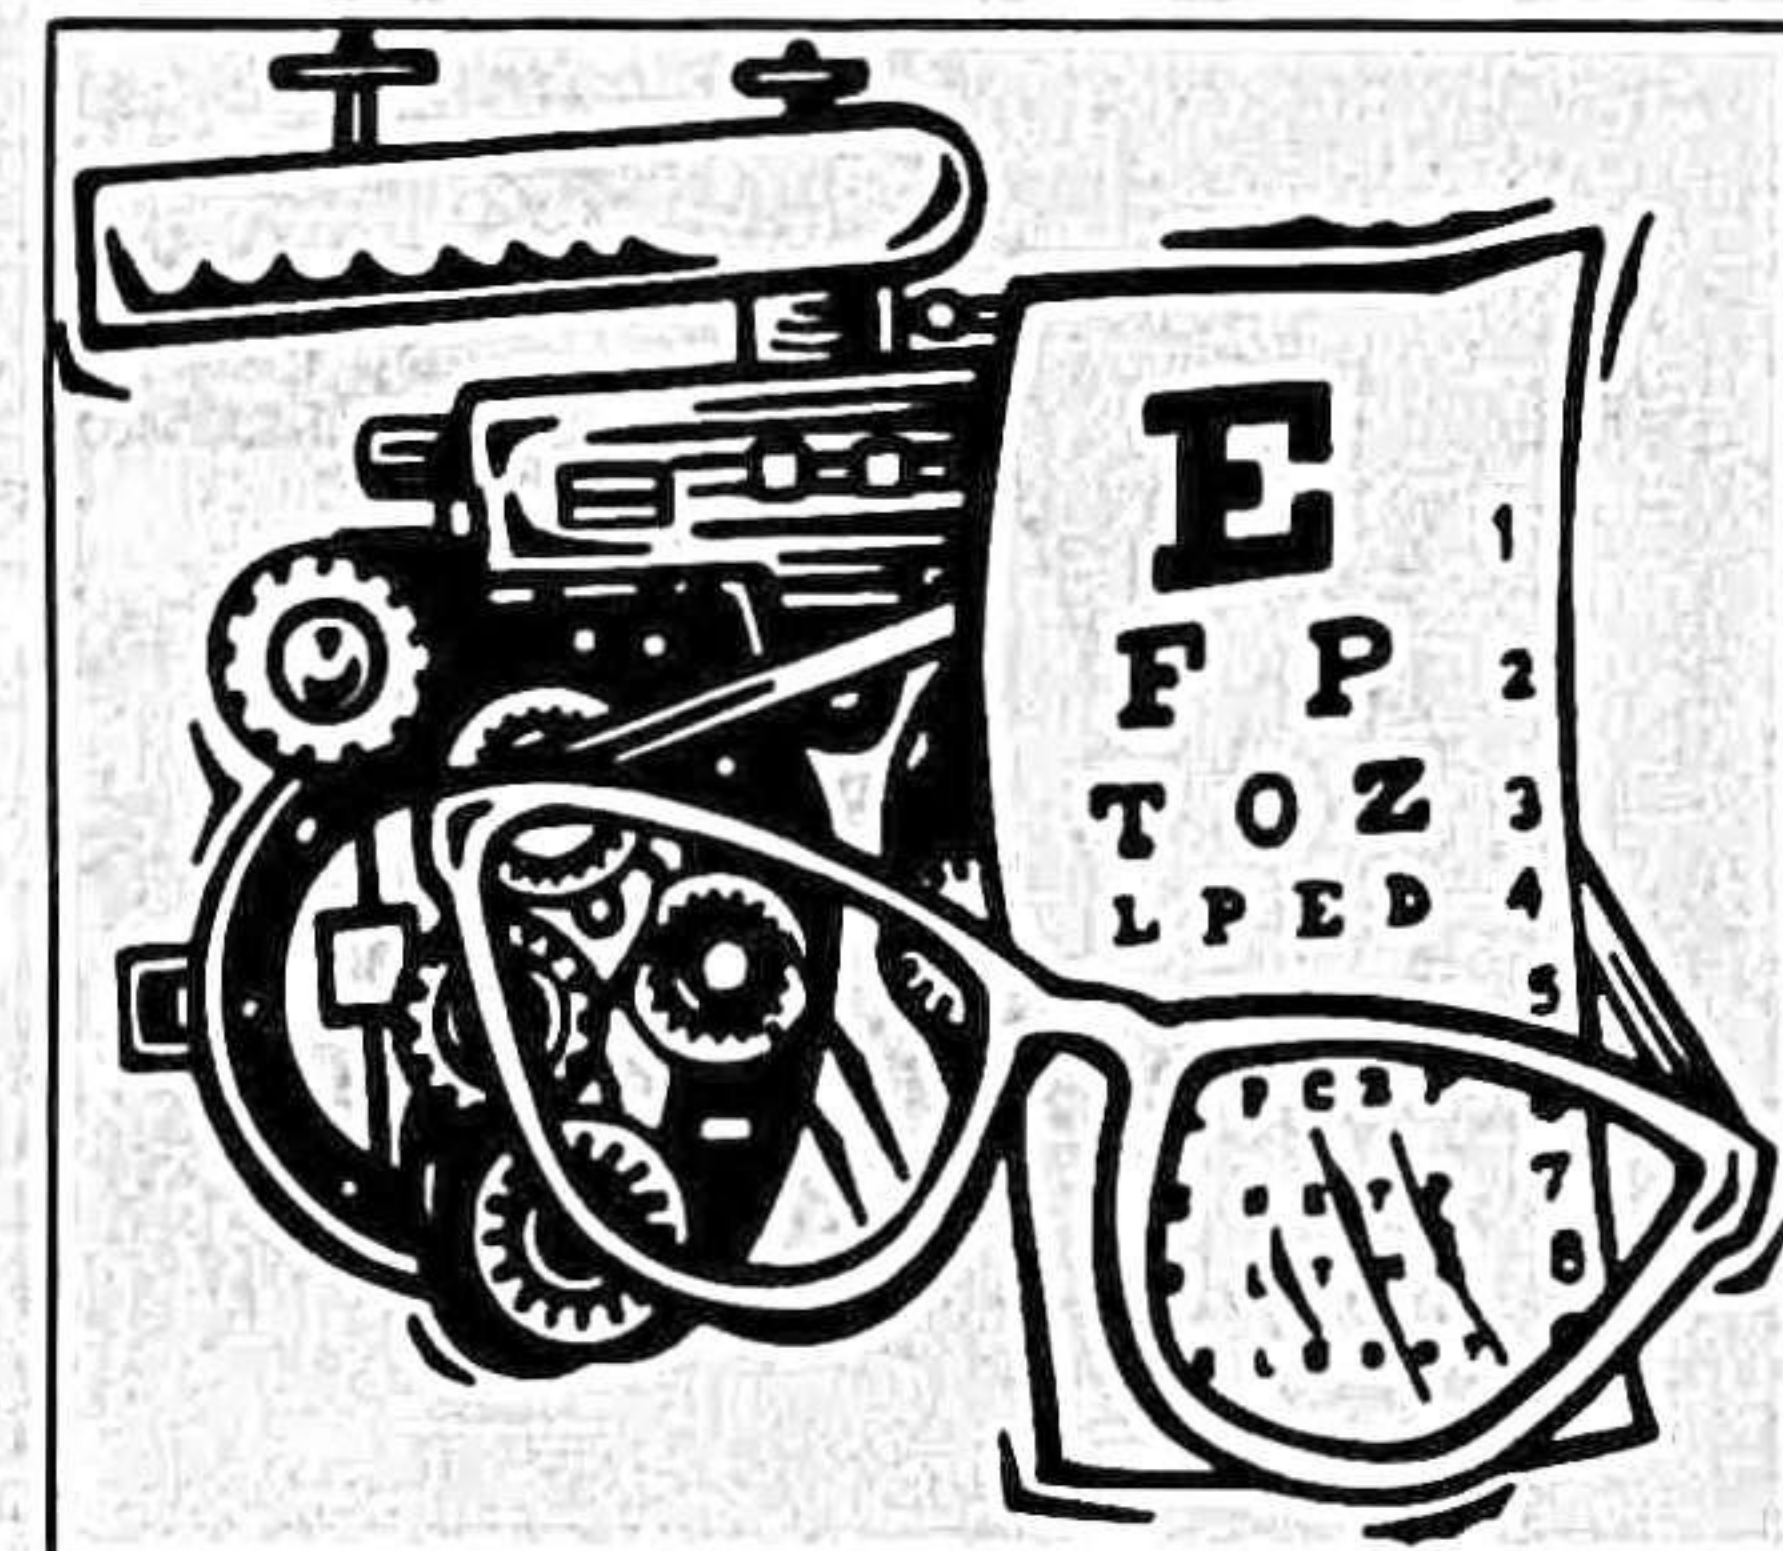

One note of caution: remember that knowing who your children's friends are isn't the same as picking them.

Eye exams add up to school success

It's estimated that 80 percent of all learning during a child's first 12 years comes through vision. Yet, nearly 86 percent of children entering school have not had a complete eye examination, advises the American Optometric Association. That translates to 18 million children who will not have had an eye examination by an eye doctor by the time they start school. Statistics bear out the need for complete eye examinations for school-age children.

Vision disorders have been ranked as the No. 1 prevalent handicapping condition in childhood. Around five percent of children are identified as having visual acuity problems using the Snellen chart, which gauges distance vision, during a typical vision screening. However, that number may be conservative. The Chicago Board of Education has estimated that 20 percent (430,000) of the children in its public school system may need glasses.

Parents need to be concerned about more than just visual acuity. A range of visual skills play a role in a child's ability to read and perform in school. Color deficiency, focusing (also known as accommodation) abilities, visual alignment, binocular fusion (eye teaming), eye-tracking skills, and overall eye health can have an impact on the learning process. A child may be able to see letters at a distance, but that does not tell whether his or her eyes are able to work together to read materials up close. A Los Angeles Times report found around 47 percent of area students suffered from some type of vision impairment. In Virginia, out of 119 offenders hospitalized in Virginia because of severe emotional or anti-social problems. 70 percent were found to have vision perception problems. Parents should keep in mind that a school vision screening, while helpful, is not a substitute for a comprehensive eye exam by an optometrist.

The AOA has developed the Back-In-School Eye Test, a list of questions that you can answer about your children's eyesight and eye health. This test, while not designed for self-diagnosis, can serve as an indicator for potential vision problems that could have a negative impact on a child's ability to learn and succeed in school. To receive a copy of the "Back-in-School Eye Test," call (888) 396-3937, or visit the AOA Web site at www.aonet.org and click on the "Back-In-School" icon.

Shultis wins first clay event; Wilmot resumes Aug. 25

Premier Racing Production's Wilmot Speedway takes one week off from racing action on August 18 due to the annual Kenosha County Fair. Racing will resume on Saturday, August 25 as Dave's Muffler & Brake Shop and Jensen Towing presents The Interstates Racing Association (IRA) Outlaw Sprint Cars plus IMCA modifieds. This will be the final Wilmot appearance of the season by the traveling IRA winged warriors. Sprint time trials are scheduled for 6 p.m. with racing to follow.

Meanwhile, Scott Shultis of Waukegan scored his first-ever feature win on clay by taking the checkered flag in the 20-lap IMCA Modified feature on Saturday, August 11 as part of The Original Outlet Mall/Shalom Interfaith Center Food Drive Night. Wisconsin Mini-Sprint Association (WIMSA) point leader Jeff Harder of Glenbuelah, Wis. won his fifth WIMSA feature of the season and first-ever at Wilmot. Tony Schlei of Zion, Ill. captured his fifth Herb's IMCA Hobby Stock feature of the season.

"It's been a long time, since on the asphalt at Waukegan Speedway," said Shultis, referring to the track which closed in 1979 with Shultis last feature win coming in 1974 in a late model sportsman. "I have to thank my crew, my wife, and especially my dad (Richard Shultis), because he taught me how to set up a race car, build engines, fabricate body parts and weld."

"The track was really slick down low," said Shultis. "I saw Ed Devall's front nose a couple of times, but I was able to make the car stick high."

John Dost of Antioch took the initial lead in the IMCA modified main with a pair of cautions on laps three and four, negating Shultis' bid to take the front spot. On the restart on lap five, Shultis went to the inside long enough to take the lead coming out of turn three. Cautions on laps seven and nine slowed the pace, but Shultis was up to the challenge each time.

At the finish it was Shultis taking the checkered with his good friend Devall, who pits next to him, finishing second. Elmer

LET'S GO RACING

Michael H. Babicz

Everman III of Kenosha came from the 15th starting spot to finish third, catching Dost on the closing laps. Antioch's Scott Kuxhouse finished fifth.

"The car ran really well with the new transmission," said Schlei following his hobby stock win. "With all of those yellow flags, I was wondering if it would ever end."

In victory lane, Schlei and his team presented a bag of groceries to the Shalom Interfaith Food Center representatives after picking up his crew members and the food while on his victory lap.

Lyle Bottlemey of Genoa City, Wis. took the initial lead. Following consecutive caution flag laps John Simons of Chicago broke through a three-wide battle with Jim Scanlon of Pleasant Prairie and Bottlemey as the trio stormed down the front straightaway. A caution flew on lap five, with Schlei able to take the lead on lap six. A final stoppage came with two laps remaining when Scanlon's car had a engine fire while battling in the top three. Scanlon was not injured and the fire was quickly extinguished by the track safety crew.

At the checkered flag, it was Schlei with Simons coming in second. James Coots Jr. and Bryan Hyde, both of Pleasant Prairie, finished third and fourth, respectively. Bottlemey wound up fifth.

"Mike's (Kertscher) a good driver and sometimes it takes a slight mistake to be able to get around him," said Harder, referring to his biggest challenge in the early going of the main. "This is a tough group (WIMSA) to run with. My crew worked really hard setting up the car and everything came together."

Kertscher broke through a four-wide start to take the lead, holding it until he hooked a infield tire in turn four and nearly spun out. Harder was able to shoot past the sideways mount. Five caution periods throughout the race slowed the pace and made it difficult to get into a rhythm. Harder was able to keep the field behind him and go on to the victory. Scott Uttech of New Berlin finished second after a side-by-side battle on several laps with Bob Reichert of Skokie, who finished third. Buddy Luebke of Stoughton, Wis. was fourth while Joe Pantley of Beaver Dam, Wis. ended up fifth.

Scott Sippel flipped during the first mini-sprint heat race. He was uninjured and returned to run the feature.

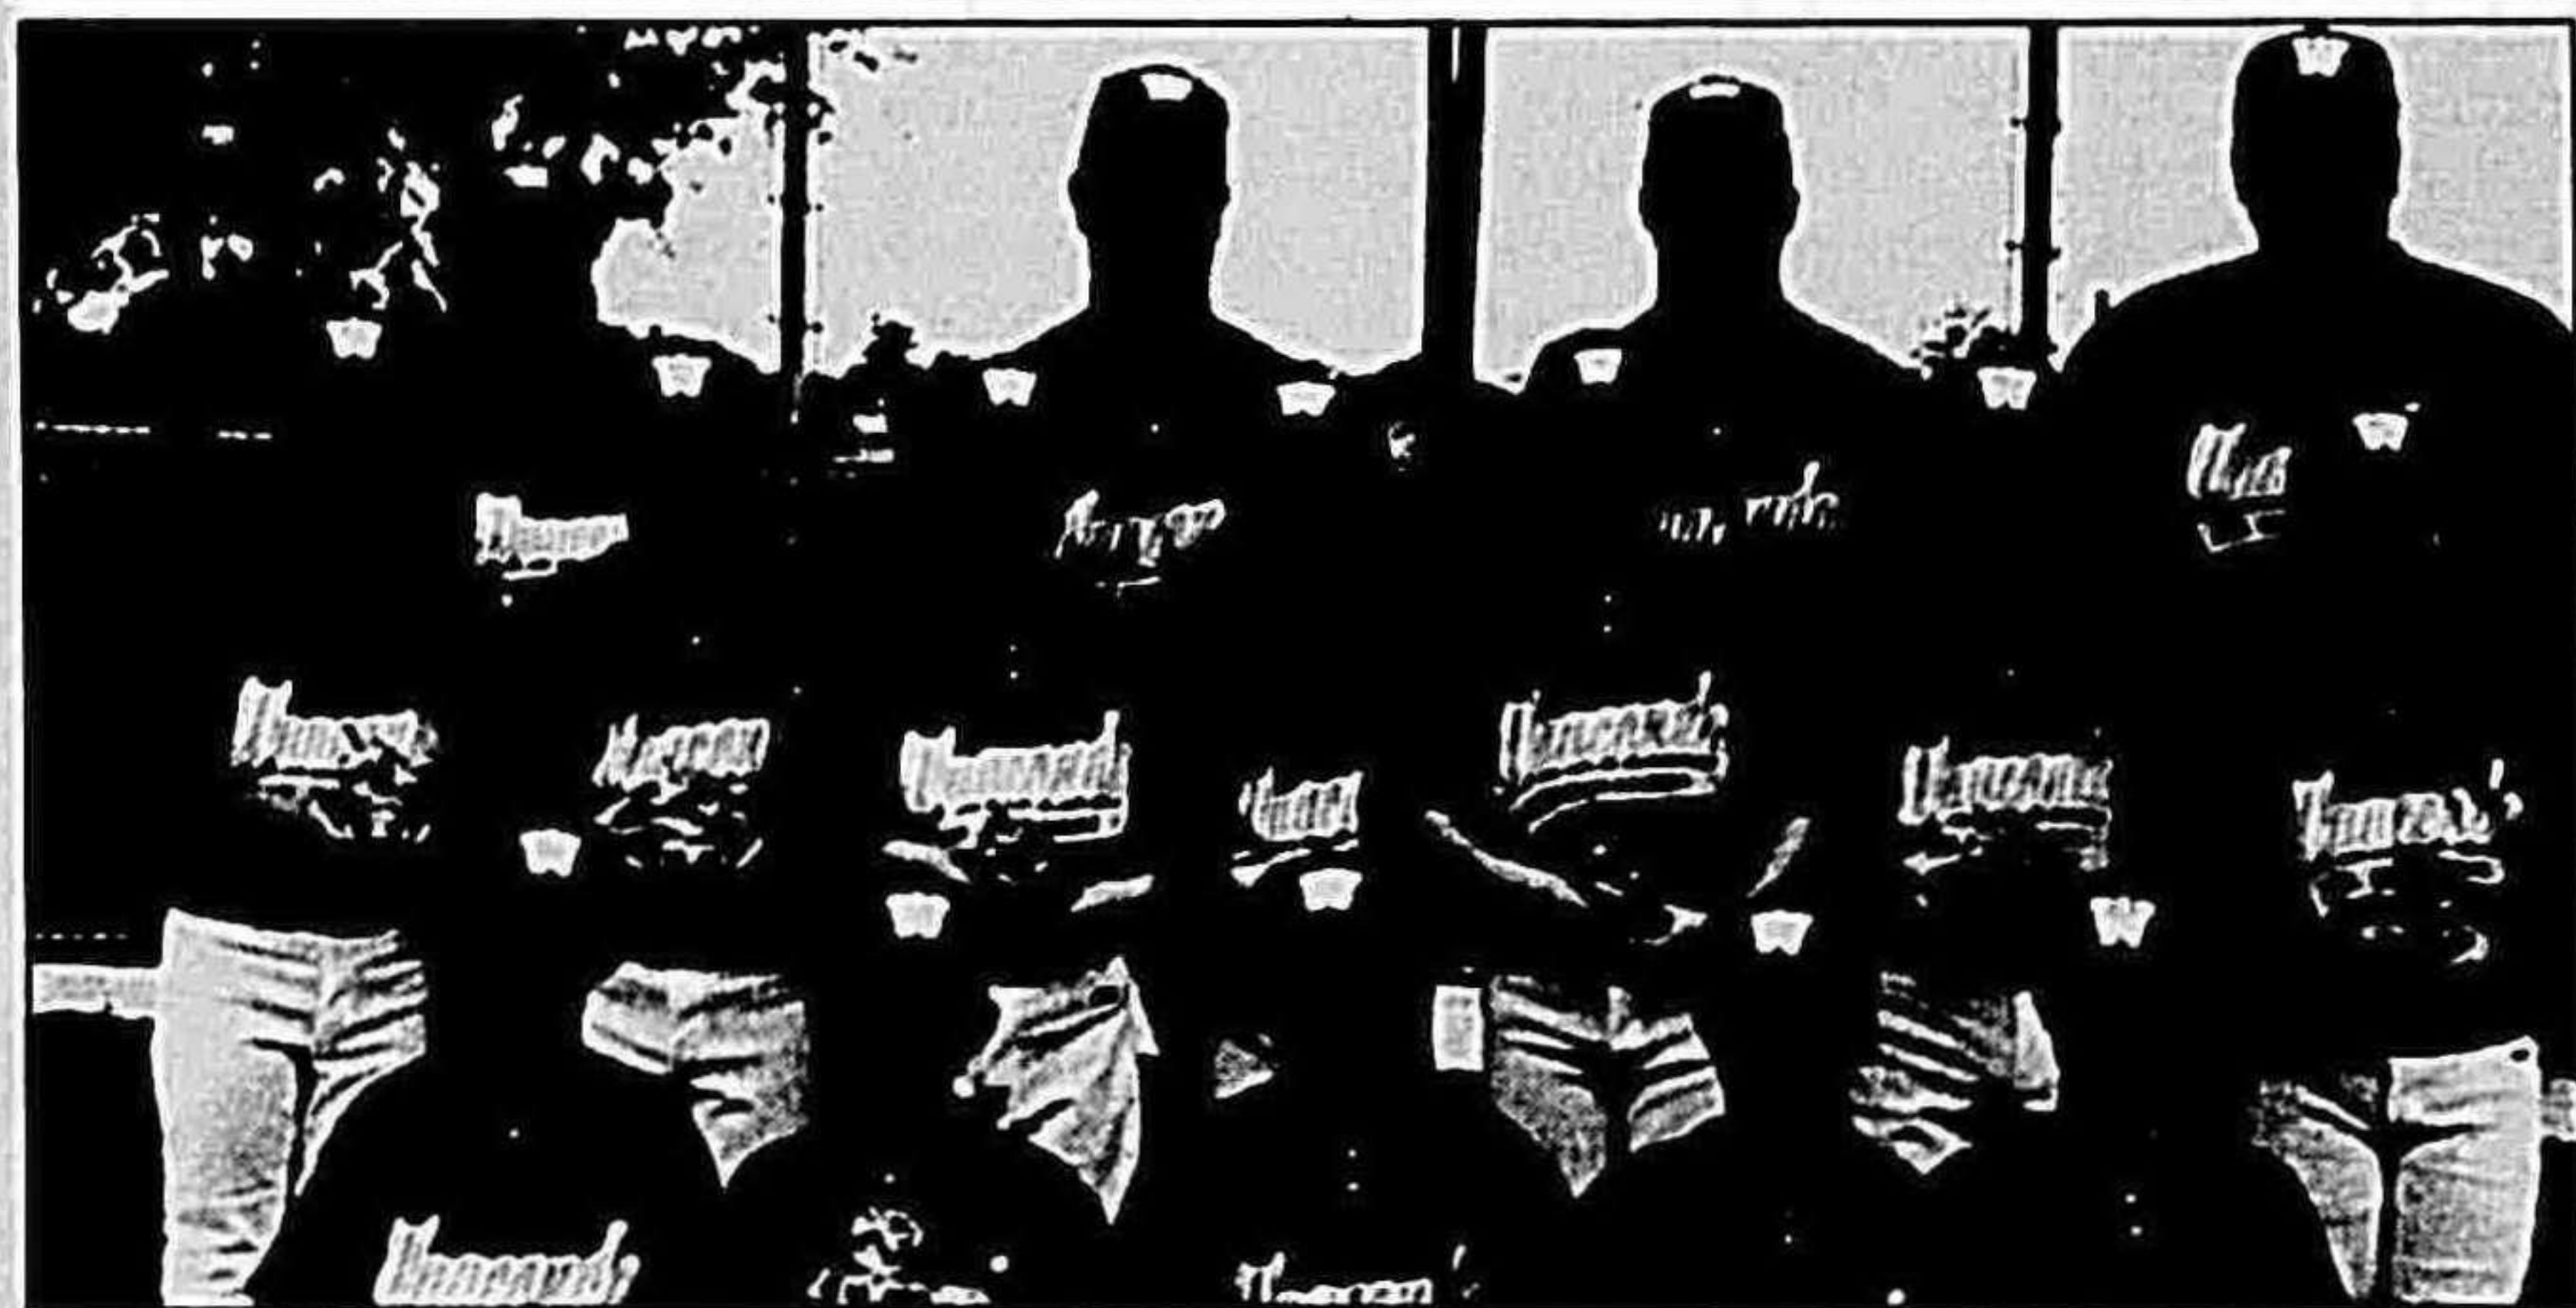

Canned goods and non-perishable food items donated by fans, competitors and track employees were collected to be distributed by the Shalom Interfaith Center in Kenosha. Andy Calin, Wilmot promoter, announced items will be accepted at the Speedway any race night for the remainder of the season, consisting of five more weeks.

Wilmot Speedway is located on the Kenosha County Fairgrounds in Wilmot, Wis. For the latest information phone the 24-hour racelines 262-862-2446 or 847-838-RACE.

Competition stiff for Baruffi, Bailey

By ROB BACKUS
Staff Reporter

Antioch's Anthony Baruffi and Zion's Aireonna Bailey went into the Junior Olympics in Sacramento with high expectations.

However, both Baruffi and Bailey found out just how formidable the national competition is, as they were running against a level of competition not seen in the State of Illinois.

"It's tough in California," said Waukegan Invaders head coach Ken Almond in his second year at the Junior Olympics. "It was the first year of high competition for both of them (Baruffi and Bailey)."

Bailey qualified for the Junior Olympics in three sprint events, the 100, 200 and 400 meter dashes.

In each event, the winner finished with a much lower time than Bailey, causing her to finish low in the standings.

Baruffi didn't fare much better in his lone event, the long jump.

The first-place winner jumped a distance of 23-feet, 7 1/4-inch, while the eighth-place finisher jumped 21-feet, 11 inches, which meant that Baruffi would have to better his qualifying jump by over two feet in order to make the finals. It wasn't his day, but the 18th-place finish among the nation's best youth athletes gives Baruffi every reason to be proud.

Despite the relatively sub-par finishes by both, Almond is still pleased with the season.

"This season helped the program a lot," said Almond. "It also gave the kids the exposure and experience they'll need next year. I'm very satisfied with what happened."

The Invaders will run an indoor program during the winter and will be out in full force next spring and summer, hopefully with Baruffi on the squad in the summer.

"I hope to see Anthony with the Invaders again next year after his track season with Antioch," said Almond.

Travelers league champs

The Lake Villa Traveling 12-year-old baseball team capped off the 2001 season by winning the always-tough McHenry County Traveling League title. For the season, Lake Villa compiled a 17-6-1 league record en route to the title while besting last year's league champs, the McHenry Travelers.

The Travelers then qualified for the United States Specialty Sports Association state tournament, which featured 30 of the best 12-year-old teams from the State of Illinois. In the event, Lake Villa beat both the Chicago Southwest Senators and DuPage Demons before falling to the Mt. Greenwood Lions in a close contest.

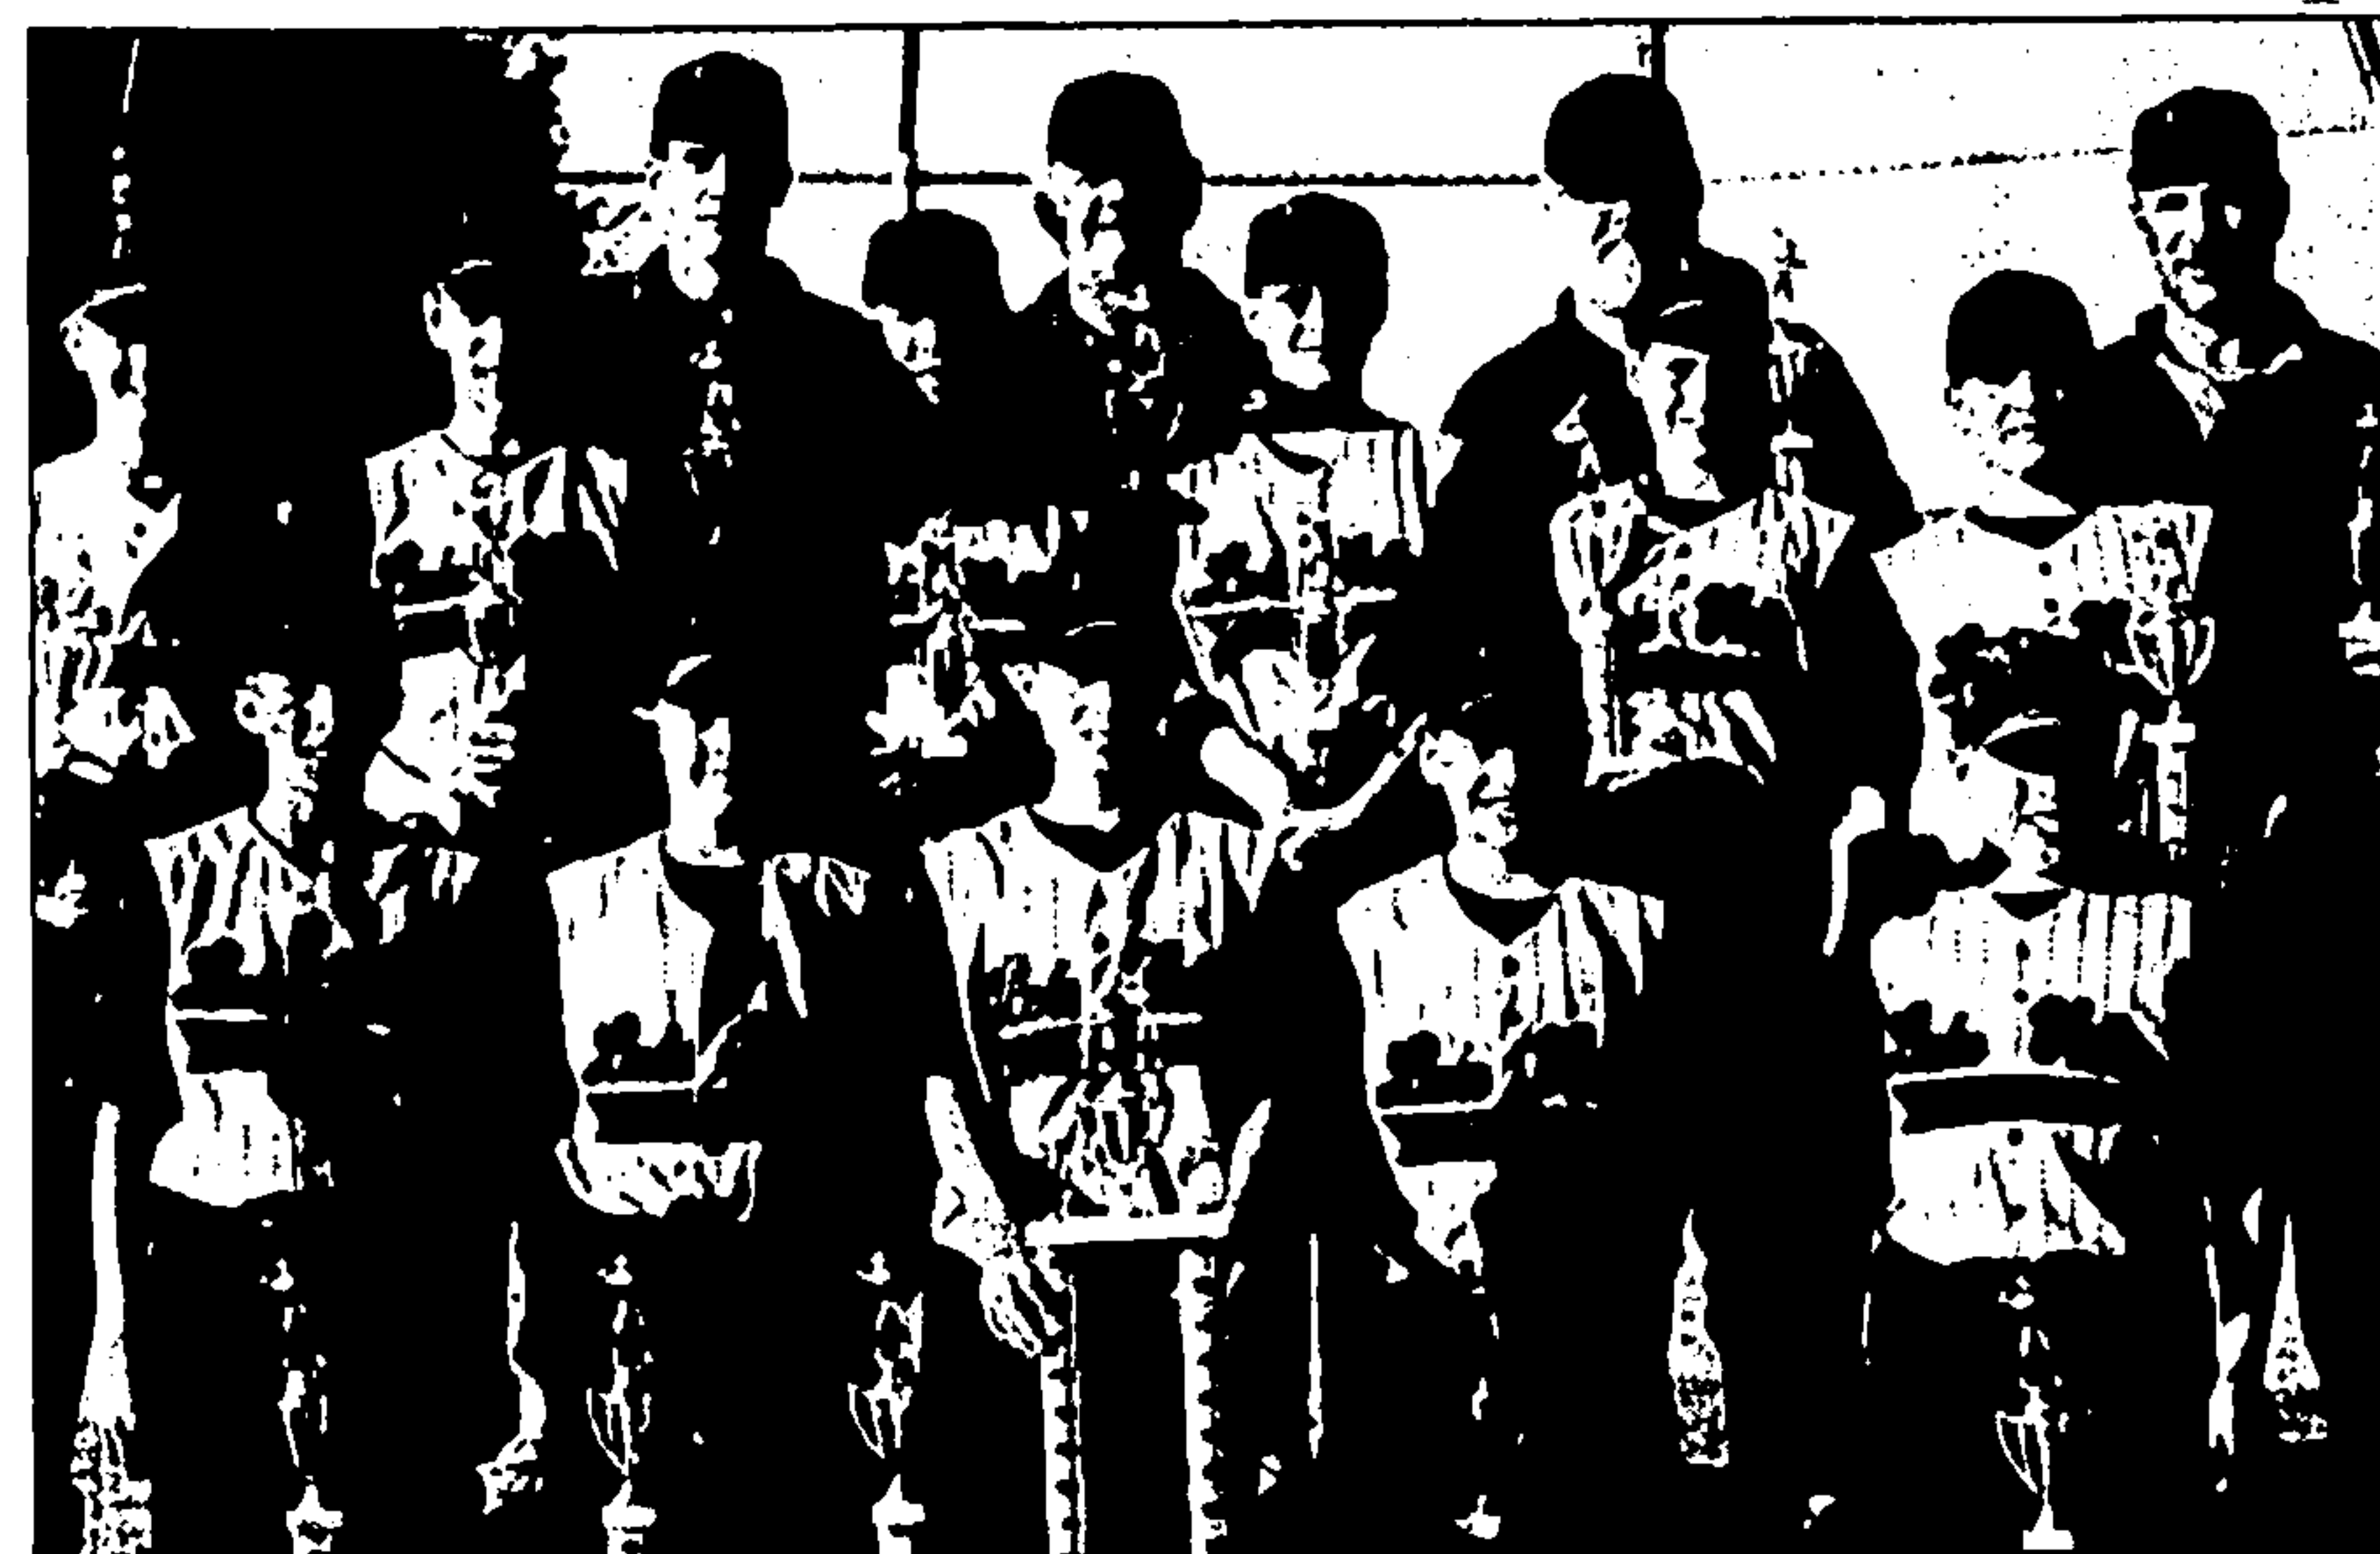

Season standouts for Lake Villa included, on offense, Sean Hertz (.442 batting avg.), Jacob Cobb (.350 BA), Carl Stream (.339 BA), Zach Amrein (.337 BA), Jimmy Humphrey (.327 BA) and Steve Klein (.312 BA).

Leading the way on the mound included pitchers Josh Manninen (2-0, 1.75 ERA), Adam Frank (2-0, 2.15 ERA), Josh Knaack (3-0, 3.64 ERA), Brian Schmidt (3-5, 3 saves, 3.59 ERA), Hertz (6-2, 4 saves, 2.52 ERA), Stream (7-5, 2 saves, 3.12 ERA) and Danny Sheridan (0-1, 5.95 ERA).

The Travelers are coached by Ted Cobb, Steve Klein, Tom Knaack and Jon Hertz.

On a related note, tryouts for the 2002 Lake Villa Traveling 13-year-old team will be held Sept. 8 and 15 at noon at Lake Villa Baseball park. Interested players should plan on attending both days of tryouts. For further information, please contact Tom Knaack at 356-1837.

The department that has the greatest increase in giving over last year will receive special recognition and a trophy from United Way. More than one-quarter of county government employees will use the services of agencies funded by United Way of Lake County this year, so we have an obligation and commitment to do everything we can to help the organization."

This year's events include a carnival Sept. 20 in the Lincoln Plaza of the Lake County government building in Waukegan. The carnival kicks off the 2001 United Way campaign, which runs through Oct. 19.

The carnival, dubbed "Care Fair," will have midway activities, food, live music and a raffle. Lake County board members and elected officials will staff midway booths, including a dunk tank, ring toss, bingo, tug-of-war and other games and activities.

For information or to donate, contact Terry Kuss at 377-2136.

The Lake County 2001 United Way campaign is part of Lake County Cares, which encourages volunteerism by offering volunteer opportunities for Lake County employees and retirees in an effort to make a difference in communities.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Antioch Community High School Dist. 117 today announced its policy for free milk/meals for those students unable to pay under the Illinois Free Lunch and Breakfast and Special Milk Programs. The following household size and income criteria will be used for determining eligibility:

INCOME GUIDELINES (Effective from July 1, 2001, to June 30, 2002)

Household Size	FREE MEALS - 130%
	Annual	Month	Week
1	$11,167	$931	$215
2	15,093	1,258	291
3	19,019	1,585	366
4	22,945	1,913	442
5	26,871	2,240	517
6	30,797	2,567	593
7	34,723	2,894	668
8	38,649	3,221	744

Each Additional Family Member Add +3,926 +328 +76

Children from households that meet Federal guidelines are eligible for milk/meals.

Application forms are being sent to all homes with a letter to parents or guardians. To apply for free milk/meal benefits, households must complete the application as soon as possible, sign it and return it to the school. Additional copies of the application form are available at the principal's office in each school. Households should answer all applicable questions on the form. An application which does not contain all the required information cannot be processed and approved by the school. The required information is as follows:

FOOD STAMP/TANF HOUSEHOLDS: Households that currently receive food stamps or "Temporary Assistance For Needy Families" (TANF) for their child(ren), only have to list the child(ren)'s name and food stamp or TANF case number and sign the application. Link card and medical card number cannot be used.

ALL OTHER HOUSEHOLDS: If a household's income is at or below the level shown on the income scale, children are eligible for free milk/meals. Households must provide the following information: (1) the names of all household members, (2) the Social Security number of the adult household member signing the application, or the word none if the adult does not have a Social Security number, (3) the amount of income each household member received last month and where it comes from (wages, child support, etc.), and (4) the signature of an adult household member.

The information on the application may be verified by school or other officials at any time during the school year.

If income information is provided and children are approved for free milk/meals, households must tell the school when their household income increases by $50 or more per month ($600 per year) or when their household size decreases. If a food stamp or TANF case number is listed, the household must tell the school when they no longer receive food stamps or TANF for their child.

Households may apply for benefits at any time during the school year. Households that are not eligible now but have a decrease in household income, an increase in household size, or have a household member that becomes unemployed should fill out an application at that time.

In certain cases foster children are eligible for free milk/meals regardless of the household income. Households that have foster children living with them and wish to apply for free milk/meals for them should complete the application.

Households dissatisfied with the ruling of the official may wish to discuss it with the school. Households also have the right to a fair hearing. This can be done by calling or writing the following official:

William C. Ahlers/Business Manager

1133 Main Street, Antioch, IL 60002

TIP OF THE WEEK By Pro Joe Bitterman at Bobby's Golf Center

• CHIPPING!! •

Most players have trouble with this short shot around the green. Sometimes they leave it short and other times they skull it over the green. If you can remember four points those shots will never happen again.

1. Move in closer to the ball like you putt.
2. Position the ball in the back of your stance.
3. Put 65% of your weight on the forward foot, at this time your hands should be in front of the ball.
4. Use a balanced putting stroke.

Think of the chip shot as putting with a lofted putter.

If you must give up your pet, please consider these facts.
 *Free animal ads suggest that there is something wrong with the animal, or that it has no value.
 *Some people who respond to these free animal ads are not reputable and are more concerned about making a profit than the animal.
 *Charging a fee to a potential pet owner confirms the responsibility of pet ownership for an entire lifetime of that pet. For more information, please contact the Humane Society.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: I was offered a job with a fine company. I told the employer that I would have to give my present employer a 2-week notice upon accepting the new position. The new employer told me that their needs were immediate and, although they would appreciate me giving only a 1-week notice to my present employer, they agreed to a 2-week starting date. During the weekend before I was to start my new job after having already left my former employer, I contracted what I thought was a virus that kept me from starting my job on the first day. When I called my new employer to tell them, they seemed to understand. I called on the second day and told them I was still under the weather and they seemed to reluctantly understand. They asked me if I had seen a physician and I told them that I would try to go that day. On Thursday I called the company and said that I could start the job the following Monday. The company was upset with this and said that the work load was piling up, that they had released the other employee who had been on the job previously, brought in a temp, and that it was imperative that I show up to work on Monday with a doctor's excuse. Come Monday, I realized that I had no note to give the employer, mainly because I didn't feel I needed to visit the doctor, but I took my chances and showed up for work anyway. When I was greeted by the Personnel Manager, she immediately asked for my doctor's note. I told her I never went to the doctor. She told me that they held the position an additional week, as had been agreed upon, and she had had to hire a temp to come in and help out the days that I was not there. They think that, in lieu of this, they may call the temp back in or continue looking for someone to fill this position. They already hired me. How can they do that? E.M.-Fox Lake

A: Dear E.M.,

Technically, although you were hired, you never actually consummated your employment. People do get sick. I have yet to come across a sickness that was timely. I understand your predicament. However, I also understand theirs. If you told them you were to see a doctor, you should have followed through or told them you didn't feel you needed one. One draw back to this untimely illness is that they had a perfect opportunity to bring in that temporary who then showed them what he/she could do. Pick yourself up and don't dwell on this. Who knows, perhaps your former employer would welcome you back. NOTE: Temporary assignments can lead to full-time permanent job placements. It allows for the perfect opportunity to "show them what you can do."
